Washington.—(U. S. T. T.)—The prevailing here at the course of the negotiations at the Hague over the acceptance of the Young plan for the settlement of German reparations.
Although the U. S. government is not officially a member of the conference, it is nevertheless vitally concerned from an economic viewpoint.
The consequences of disagreement are so far-reaching that they are generally regarded as unlikely to be forced by Great Britain which has for so many years since the war played the role of pacifier in European politics.
The first impression was that Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer was merely trading in order to get an important concession, namely the location of the proposed international bank. Inasmuch as the United States is not inclined to participate in the management of the new bank it becomes even more important to Great Britain that the new institution be located in London.
The principal influence of the bank will be on the flow of gold and foreign exchange generally and London has always been eager to retain its position as the financial center of the world.

REMAINS INSISTENT
But the very insistence by the British chancellor that the agreement be modified to increase British percentages in the proceeds now is looked upon as an individual crusade in which Mr. Snowden's sincerity is not questioned. This is corroborated by the last minute efforts that have been made to bring British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to intervene. The new Labor government however has made certain promises to the masses and it would be a great feather in the political cap of the ministry to be to Original Measure on Appropriations

Madison —(U. S. T. T.)—In compliance with the pleas of the board of regents and President Glenn Frank, the senate today rejected the Markham substitute, and gave preliminary approval to the original appropriation measure for the University of Wisconsin. Conservative leaders, who presented the substitute, failed to hold their faction in line, and it was defeated 16 to 9.
The original measure, however,
has yet to come up for final passage.
The Conservatives defeated an effort, made by Senator Thomas M.
Duncan, Socialist, to vote on final passage immediately after engross-ment. On Duncan's motion to reconsider the engrossment vote in order to assure the preliminary approval, Senator William Venting further consideration of the university bill.

REGEN'S STATEMENT
A communication, declaring that the Markham substitute "amendment to the university appropriation bill would, if passed, seriously cripple the services of the state school, was presented to the senate earlier today by the board of university regents.
The communication was drawn at a special session of the regents Monday, which was called by President Glenn Frank.
"We want to express to the senate our grave concern over the proposed Markham substitute," the communication said.
Markham's substitute, in the regents' opinion, grants the university for its general operation next year less than one per cent increase over the actual expenditures of last year, although there has been a 13

Spanish people strongly attacking Premier Primo de Rivera was issued by the General Labor union in es-against accepting the government's invitation. Observer's attack much political significance to the labor

new Spanish constitution.
"The Spanish people, thirsting for

PROBE MYSTERY OF OFFICER'S MURDER

Special Agent of Department of Justice Found Slain in Canal

Phoenix, Ariz. —(U. S. T. T.)—Intensive efforts to lift the veil of mystery surrounding the death of Paul E. Reynolds, 31, a special agent of the department of justice, were begun by federal officers here today.
Reynolds' body was found floating in an irrigation canal north of here yesterday, a bullet wound in the heart. The automobile which he had rented five days before, was not near. His friends said he had signed his intention of going to Albuquerque last Friday night. His headquarters were at El Paso, Tex.

At an automobile agency here he rented the car, Reynolds had said he was going for "a little swim," and that he "would return in a few hours." The management of the agency said his failure to return on time had caused no uneasiness since he often rented machines and kept them for several days.
Authorities here said they were unable to throw any light on Reynolds' slaying, as the case he was working on at the time of his disappearance was not considered to be on a dangerous nature. It was pointed out, however, that he had been instrumental in apprehending narcotic smugglers along the border recently.
Some significance was placed in the fact that a brief case, which was believed to have contained valuable evidence concerning a large smuggling ring.

Girl Killed, Pilot Hurt In Plane Crash

Manitowoc —(U. S. T. T.)—A passenger was killed and the pilot probably fatally injured when a mallow biplane, climbing above municipal airport, slipped into a tall-pine and crashed from an altitude of 2,000 feet here late yesterday.
Della Devon, 22-year old ex-hatter of Chicago, died in an ambulance shortly before it reached the hospital and the pilot, Melvin Thompson of Quarr, Wis., was so seriously injured that physicians believe he may die.
The young woman, who came to Manitowoc Sunday to open an engagement at a roadside near here, asked Pilot Thompson to take her for a ride. When the plane was at an altitude of 2,000 feet the motor failed and the ship went into a tall-spin. The pilot was unable to straighten out his craft before it plunged to earth.
Witnesses of the accident ran to the spot where the plane fell but the tangled wreckage made it necessary for them to chop the pilot and his passenger from the cockpit. It took rescue workers 40 minutes to extricate the pair. Miss Devon suffered broken legs and internal injuries and lost part of her skull from a blow.
Thompson's skull was fractured and he suffered severe lacerations in addition to possible internal injuries.
Thompson was a pioneer aviator here, having been the first licensed pilot in the county. He built his first plane 10 years ago in a shed on his father's farm at Quarry and was considered an expert flier.

HOOPER WON'T VISIT
MEXICO THIS YEAR

Washington —(U. S. T. T.)—President Hoover has no plans to visit Mexico in December, although he does hope at some future date to go to that country. This announcement was made at the White House today in reply to inquiries concerning reports from the Mexican capital.
Just when he will be able to do so, however, is wholly problematical, as congress reconvenes next month and the present outlook is that it will be in session for months.
During this period the president does not wish to absent himself from Washington for any appreciable length of time.
It is expected that he will go to Cincinnati, Ohio, about the middle of October to attend the celebration incidentally to the opening of the improved waterway on the Ohio river.
After speaking there his program would call for a trip to Louisville, Ky., on a river steamer through the newly constructed locks.
Whether he will be able to proceed to Memphis, New Orleans and Texas now is doubtful.

SIX CARS DERAILED BUT NO FATALITIES FOUND

Pueblo, Colo. —(U. S. T. T.)—Three Pull-other cars derailed when the trucks

by the conductor of the train.

the track for more than 700 feet, and

SHAWANO BOY ARRESTED BY POLICE HERE

Thomas MacKenzie, Wounded by Cashier, Nabbed at Fraternity House

SAYS HE NEEDED MONEY

Black Creek Banker Frustrates Bold Attempt by Shooting Bandit

Caught within eight hours after he had attempted to hold up the Bank of Black Creek shortly before 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, Thomas MacKenzie, 23, an automobile salesman here and formerly a student at Lawrence college is being held by Appleton police pending his arraignment in court.

MacKenzie is suffering from a bullet wound in his right shoulder where he was shot by George Peters, cashier of the bank at Black Creek, who frustrated the attempted hold-up when he opened fire on the would-be bandit.

Police Chief George T. Prim said
MacKenzie, who was taken from bed at the Delta Sigma Tau fraternity house about 10 o'clock last night, has admitted the attempted hold up.

THOUGHT HOLDUP EASY

According to MacKenzie's story to the police, he conceived the idea of holding up the bank while on his way to Shawano to visit his mother, a widow, who lives on a farm about four miles north of that place. As he passed through Black Creek he saw a woman in the bank and he believed a holdup would be easy.

MacKenzie, according to Chief Prim, was lured with the prospect of making good about $1,000 in bad checks which he had passed in New London, Shawano and Appleton. The chief said that MacKenzie evidently believed he could realize enough on the robbery to pay up his checks.

But MacKenzie had failed to notice that there were three people in the bank instead of one. Another thing he failed to take in consideration was that this bank had been held up once before and that a revolver was cached in the vault for just such an emergency and he didn't know that Mr. Peters, the cashier, was determined that an attempt to hold up his bank would be met with stubborn resistance.
Peters, it was said, has been practicing shooting with a revolver.

When MacKenzie entered the bank he ordered Mrs. Peters, assistant cashier, who sitting behind a wicker partition, and Miss Meta Schneider, also behind the same partition, to throw up their hands.

DISTURBED BY NOISE

At that moment, Mr. Peters, who was in a private office some 10 feet away, walked in the bank proper to see what was wanted and he also received an order to "throw up his hands. Action was fast after that.

MacKenzie was unable to get inside the wicker cage to gather up the money because it was locked and he ordered the three people to get into the vault. Mr. and Mrs. Peters reached the vault and as Miss Schneider rose from her chair, it screeched along the floor and the noise seemed to disturb MacKenzie who turned suddenly and as he took his attention from Mr. Peters the latter grabbed a revolver and pulled the trigger.

The first time the trigger fell the gun failed to explode but the second pull discharged a cartridge and Mr. Peters said he saw MacKenzie slump. The young man turned and fled as Peters shot a second time and the bullet went through the door and into a window of the George Diehl store across the street.

Mr. Peters said MacKenzie paused an instant outside the door of the bank glanced in both directions and then jumped into his car and drove north.

THREW AWAY CLOTHES

According to MacKenzie's story to the police he drove toward Shawano

When he reached Shawano he

Venezuelan Troops Whip Rebels In Attack On City

PRESIDENT OF STATE KILLED IN ENCOUNTER

Revolutionaries Arm Old German Merchant Ship Before Attempt on Port

Caracas, Venezuela.—(P)—Venezuelan federal troops Sunday inflicted complete defeat on a large group of revolutionaries who attempted to take the city of Cumana, a fruit trading port about 250 miles east of Caracas.

Government announcement of the encounter said General Emilio Fernandez, president of the state of Sucre, died gloriously at the head of the government forces. A five day mourning period for him has been decreed.

Two of the leaders of the attacking forces were killed, and all others captured except General Francisco Linares Alcantara, the first minister of interior of the republic, who has been in exile for several years. The government captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

The government statement said: "A group of Venezuelans living abroad, with the purpose of violating the peace of Venezuela, armed the old German merchant steamer Falke and yesterday (Sunday) attacked the city of Cumana."

"The vessel is not licensed by any nation and lacks authority to navigate and therefore the said steamer Falke, armed to make war and without a legitimate flag, will be considered and punished as a pirate."

PRAISE SLAIN LEADER
An accompanying official statement said: "General Emilio Fernandez, president of the state of Sucre, died gloriously at the head of the government forces opposing the group of revolutionaries and filibusters who unexpectedly arrived in a pirate steamer and yesterday attacked the city of Cumana."

"They were completely defeated, leaving in the hands of the government a great quantity of arms and ammunition. The leaders were General Rafael Maria Carabano, and General Francisco Linares Alcantara. Delgado Chalbaud was killed and his adjutant, Armando Zuloaga Blanco, also was killed."

"The following were wounded and taken prisoners: General Carabano, Pancho Angarita, Arvelo, Luis Lopez Mendez, Carlos Julio Rojas, Rosellano Perez and others."

LIKE OTHER RAID
The raid was much like that of last June on Goro, capital of the state of Falcon, which was made after the filibusters had kidnapped the governor of Curacao, looted the police arsenal at Willemstad and commandeered an American vessel in the harbor to take them to the mainland. The raiders were defeated in their assault on the town.

Delgado Chalbaud was commandant of the navy under Castro in 1911 and was arrested on charges of conspiring to kill General Juan Vicente Gomez, who this year relinquished the presidency to Juan Bautista Perez more than 20 years in service. General Carabano was the first minister of commerce and industry under General Gomez in 1909. Both were fugitives from the country.

CHARGE RING TOOK FOREIGNERS TO U. S.

Group Accused of Having American Girls Wed Abroad to Help Aliens

Milwaukee.—(P)—Charged with conspiracy to violate the Mann act and fighting extradition to Chicago to face immigration charges, 21-year-old Doris Rozinski, Milwaukee, was late yesterday arraigned before United States Commissioner H. L. Kellogg, here.

With her was Morris Silberman, also of Milwaukee, who is implicated in the immigration charges. Bhod was set at $2,500 and a hearing ordered on Aug. 19.

Silberman with Miss Rozinski and Sam Greenhouse, now serving a term in the Chicago Bridewell, are alleged to be part of a ring engaged in fraudulently bringing foreigners into the United States.

It is charged that the ring has American girls go to Cuba and there marry the aliens, who then enter the country as the husbands of citizens. Miss Rozinski is alleged to have married a brother of Silberman at Havana, after going there as the wife of Greenhouse, who already had a spouse in Chicago.

Another warrant, charging the trio with violation of the immigration laws, will be issued in Milwaukee according to Gilbert Vander Cook, assistant federal district attorney.

PERU AGAIN ACTIVE IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Lima, Peru.—(P)—Peru has ended its long abstinence from participation in the affairs of the league of nations. Decision was made yesterday to resume full cooperation in all activities.

Peru withdrew from official participation in league activities in 1921 after protesting election of Augustin Edwards of Chile, to the league council, on which Peru was not represented.

WEST ALLIS ISN'T MILWAUKEE SUBURB, KIWANISANS LEARN

West Allis.—(P)—West Allis is not a suburb of Milwaukee. Mayor Delbert Miller told 300 delegates, representing some 60 Kiwanis clubs in Wisconsin and upper Michigan, that he wants that clearly understood. They gathered here yesterday for their annual convention.

In welcoming them, the mayor pointed out that West Allis is "one of Wisconsin's 'medium-sized cities,' with a population of 32,000, property valued at $16,000,000 on the tax books—entirely able to 'stand on its own feet.'"

The convention established headquarters at the West Allis High school and the New Phister hotel, Milwaukee.

SEEK SOURCE OF SEIZED NARCOTIC

Federal Agents Try to Trace Confiscated Opium to Its Owner

New York.—(P)—Federal narcotics agents were seeking the source and destination today of a ton of raw opium, which they seized in a downtown warehouse.

The opium, which was valued at $100,000 by the officers, wholesale, or $1,000,000 bootleg prices, was confiscated after truck drivers directed the agents to the storage place to which they had moved it.

Two men were taken before United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle for questioning in connection with the seizure. One of them, whose identity was not disclosed, was released, while the other, Mosbert, of a trucking firm, was held for further questioning.

Agent, who has been working nine months on the case under the direction of Chief Agent George Cunningham said they believed the seizure was one of four consignments of equal size which have arrived in the past year. The three other lots, they said, had been distributed to the illicit narcotic trade.

The seized opium was in three packing cases each of which weighs between 600 and 800 pounds. The cases were addressed to J. Fisher, which agents said was a fictitious name.

IT'S POETIC JUSTICE! FORD ASKED TO HELP GET RID OF OLD CARS

New York.—(P)—Henry Ford, as the man most responsible, has been asked by Borough President Harvey of Queens to help solve the problem of disposing of abandoned cars.

Professing to see a situation which in time will tax the resources of the nation for its elimination, Mr. Harvey requested Mr. Ford to lend his automotive genius to abating the nuisance of streets and vacant lots littered with discarded automobiles, a large proportion of his own product.

"We have yet to find an effective method to combat this Frankenstein monster," Mr. Harvey wrote. "You have personal knowledge of the conditions caused in most of the nation's towns and cities by the promiscuous discarding of old cars."

"As the most prolific producer of automotive equipment in the world I think your company should bear a large part of the responsibility for the elimination of the abandoned car problem."

JAMBOREE BOY SCOUTS BREAK CAMP IN BRITAIN

Arrows Park, England.—(P)—Tens of thousands of boys trekked out of Arrows Park today as camp was broken and the great world jamboree of Boy Scouts came to an end. Fifty thousand youths left for their homes in nearly fifty different countries.

The night was passed largely in leave-taking as big contingents of boys toured the camp and bade their comrades farewell.

"They took with them the farewell message from the chief scout issued before he left the camp, the keynote of which was: 'From now on the scout symbol of peace is a golden arrow.'"

Despite the rain and mud, the jamboree was a success far beyond expectations. The total number of visitors was 314,422. The next jamboree will be held in 1933. The place will be determined at a conference to be held at Salzburg, Austria.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Heckert and daughter Florence have returned from a month's vacation at Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills.

AIRPLANE TO BE BIG TOOL FOR AD GROUP

Industry Feels It Promotes Growth—Discuss Power to Promote Peace

Berlin.—(P)—Aviation as one of the most important future tools of advertising was discussed at the International Advertising club in convention here today by Lester D. Gardner, former president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America.

"The aerial age has commenced and flying will serve publicity at every point," Mr. Gardner said. "It will speed up all preliminary work of advertising, and deliver journals to distant points so rapidly that the radius of merchandizing will be enlarged for all products."

"Goods will be delivered over wide areas in a shorter time than

ADVERTISING MEN SET RECORD AT EATING, DRINKING

Berlin.—(P)—German newspapers today feature the news of last night's banquet to the delegates of the International Advertising association here as a "gastronomic record," with "4,000 bottles of wine" consumed, 50 per cent of it by guests from the United States.

The 2,500 guests were served by more than 400 waiters. To furnish the saddle of veal, which was one of the items on the menu, 250 calves were killed. For relishes 35,000 crabs and other delicacies were supplied.

local deliveries can now be made." He added that, thanks largely to press, "that has not only recorded progressive stages in the history of flight but has stimulated the art of flying by offering prizes and trophies and awards that have been a great incentive," a world wide network of international airways will soon be developed that will have as great an influence on industry as the telegraph and railways.

Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, New York, told the advertising men that the efforts of men to increase their earning power will continue and they will result in further scientific discoveries, greater complexities of business organization, higher integration of industrial management, further study of business methods, more comforts and luxuries for the average man, and more leisure in which to enjoy them."

"All these things imply not only more advertising but better advertising," he said.

MOULDER OF THOUGHT

"In the advertiser is vested perhaps a greater degree of influence in shaping our future development than he himself realizes. He is becoming, to an ever increasing extent, a moulder of thought and action."

"In the pursuit of his immediate ends, let him not forget that it lies with him to be either a creator or destroyer of values. It is in his power to stimulate industrial progress, not only by the direct method of coordinating demand with output but also through the encouragement of high standards in business and personal life."

In another address Bennett Chaplin, vice president of the American Rolling Mill company and the Armco International corporation, Middletown, Ohio, was given a prolonged ovation when he recommended to the convention that one-tenth the annual battleship expenditure be appropriated as a national advertising budget against war.

"Twenty million dollars," he said, "would create a backfire against war which would make all battleships unnecessary."

He declared that advertising had "enlarged life, reduced the cost of living, stimulated and rewarded invention, and promoted idealism."

The delegates today were divided into 15 specialized groups for luncheon meetings to study different fields of advertising. One of these, devoted exclusively to radio, was led by Robert H. Rankin of William H. Rankin company, New York, and F. D. Dunsberg, manager of the German post advertising.

COULD HELP LEAGUE

Modern advertising could "put over" the league of nations and assure its permanent success, in the opinion of H. G. Hart, director of Lever brothers, Ltd., of London, who addressed the advertising congress today.

"I have often thought that the league of nations could acquire greater influence in the world, could it but avail itself of modern advertising methods," he said. "The aver-

APPLETON MAN AT HIGH CLIFF HEARING

Only one Appleton man, J. P. Frank, was expected to attend the hearing before the state legislature's conservation committee at Madison on the purchase of High Cliff as a state park. The bill to have the state purchase the park was presented to the legislature by Assemblyman Oscar Schmeltz, Appleton, and has the support of leaders throughout the Fox River valley. At a hearing before the joint finance committee of the legislature the bill was approved for adoption.

TWO SOLOISTS ON CONCERT PROGRAM

Carlos Mullenix, Florence Roate Appear With Artillery Band

One of the most ambitious programs ever attempted by the 120th field artillery band will be played Tuesday evening at Pierce park. Prof. Percy Fullinwider, Lawrence Conservatory of Music will conduct the band during the first half of the program and Edward F. Mumm, regular director will have charge of the second part.

Among the numbers Prof. Fullinwider will direct the band in is "The 120th Field Artillery," composed by Mr. Fullinwider and dedicated to the band and the artillery regiment of which it is a part.

Two soloists also will take part in the program. One will be Carlos Mullenix, oboe soloist, who will play "A Song of India." The other soloist is Miss Florence Roate, Lawrence conservatory student, who will sing a selected number.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Collipp have returned from a two weeks vacation in Chicago and Ohio where they visited with friends and relatives.

age person has neither the time nor the knowledge to fathom involved accounts of the leagues activities, but I can well imagine "Farmer Brown in middle west America, for example, responding to a series of clean cut, skillfully prepared advertisements. We suffer from a confusion of ideas on the subject that international advertising could overcome without question."

Coast To Coast Round Trip Is Being Planned By Pilots; Will Refuel

N. B. Mamer (right) will attempt a coast to coast nonstop round trip over the route shown on the map, about August 15, using the plane pictured below. Art Walker (left) will be co-pilot. Refueling will be done in the air.

Spokane, Wash.—(P)—A northwestern aviator will try to be the first to span the United States twice without touching his plane wheels to the ground.

N. B. Mamer, government forest fire control pilot, has announced his intention of attempting a nonstop coast to coast endurance flight, refueling in midair over various cities, to demonstrate that passenger or freight planes need not slow down their cross country schedules by stopping for gasoline or food.

In a biplane Mamer expects to leave Fells field near here in the late afternoon around August 15 for Portland. His itinerary provides for his reaching and refueling at San-Francisco at 4 a. m. the following day and thence progressing eastward, by way of Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Omaha, Chicago, Cleveland to New York.

The return journey would be by way of Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Paul, Aberdeen, S. D., and Miles City Mont.

While flying over the national capital he plans to drop a message to the department of commerce, from which has come the suggestion that an endurance refueling flight under actual load carrying conditions would be of benefit to aviation.

Lieutenant Mamer received his training in the army air corps, and became known nationally as a pilot by winning second place in one of the New York to Spokane air derbies during the national air races two years ago. His co-pilot, Art Walker, is another veteran birdman.

Under the law the judge can appoint defense counsel in a case where the defendant is unable to engage such counsel.

LOCAL SCOUT HEAD TO SUPERVISE TRAIL BUILDING PROJECT

32 Scouts to Take Part in Blazing Trail Over State Park

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive has been chosen by the Wisconsin Eagle Scout Trail committee and the Regional board to head a group of 32 state Eagle scouts in starting a 15 year project of building a trail across the Northern Forest park from Starret lake north.

On Sunday morning the first annual trail building camp will be opened on the northern shores of Starret lake with Mr. Clark supervising the work. He will be accompanied by Cloyd Schroeder, deputy scout commissioner of the valley council, for the first weeks of the two week encampment. A week from Sunday, James Mackin, chef at Camp Chicagami, valley scout camp on Lake Winnebago will join Mr. Clark and take over the commissary department.

The trail building troop of 32 scouts will blaze a trail 15 feet wide and their objective for the first year is to clear seven miles according to Mr. Clark.

Thus far scouts from Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Janesville, Racine, Hartford and Kenosha have signed for the camp. No local scouts will take part.

Kenneth Walsworth, Eagle scout of the local council left Tuesday morning for Glacier National park, however, where he will join other Eagle scouts from other parts of the country to spend two weeks building a trail across the park under the supervision of the Federal Conservation commission. The youngsters will be directed by Federal forest rangers.

The Wisconsin trail builders will work five hours a day and will receive $1 a day from the State Conservation commission according to Mr. Clark. Tools and other necessary equipment is furnished by the commission.

The youngsters will remove heavy timber, boulders, a derrick, shrubbery and other underbrush from the trail so that it will be possible for people in this state to penetrate the virgin forests of the north.

It will be necessary for the trail builders to construct temporary bridges across smaller streams, and to build corduroy roads over marshlands.

Part of the trail will be across the Isate game farm, eight miles north of Sayner, approximately, 230 miles from Appleton.

SPECIAL LIGHTS IN ARMORY G FOR NEXT FLOWER SHOW

Flower Lovers Groom Plants to Have Good Blooms for Exhibit

Special lighting effects are being arranged for the fall flower show of the Flower and Garden society, sponsored by the American legion, at Armory G Aug. 24 and 25. The committee in charge of the show, assisted by E. A. Killoren, is working out a scheme that will give utmost illumination for the exhibits and will give particular attention to lighting the shadow boxes which always are an especially appealing feature of a flower show.

The number of shadow boxes will be increased by four for the next show and will be one of the most interesting features of the exhibition. Shadow boxes will be in competition for prizes.

Flower lovers in this vicinity are watching their flowers carefully to be sure they will have a large number of first class blooms for the show. Last spring dozens of visitors at the show said they had flowers just as pretty as those that won prizes and it is probable that all of them will be exhibitors at the fall show.

Vases will be provided for all exhibits except in some special cases and there will be no red tape nor entry fee for exhibiting flowers. All that is necessary is to deliver them to the armory on the opening day of the show and they will be placed on tables ready for judging.

Hay Fever Leaves After 40 Years

Recovery Due to Discovery of Real Cause of the Disease.

Hay Fever sufferers will be greatly interested in the following letter recently written by W. E. Campau, optometrist, 281 Grand River Ave., W., Detroit, Mich.: "I had Hay Fever for 40 years and trouble with Asthma 20 years. In that time I tried various remedies, but until I used Dr. Fugate's Remedy, not one had any effect on me after the first year. At first I was somewhat skeptical, but after nearly three years of relief, I will always recommend Dr. Fugate's Hay Fever and Asthma Remedy to all who suffer from these diseases. I have not been bothered with either Hay Fever or Asthma since I first took your remedy in 1926."

Dr. Campau and hundreds of other sufferers reporting recovery realize the benefits derived from taking the remedy based on Dr. Fugate's discovery of the true cause of Hay Fever and Bronchial Asthma. Copies of their letters, together with an important booklet on Dr. Fugate's discovery of the cause of these diseases will be sent free by The Fugate Company, Department 4691, 126 S. "Baby Face" Willie Doody Is Captured In Chicago

SLEUTHS FIND NOTED GUNMAN IN CITY FLAT

Notorious Bandit Wanted in Several Killings and Mail Robberies

Chicago—(AP)—"Baby Face" Willie Doody, accused murder fugitive, was captured at noon today by detectives who stormed his flat where he lived under an assumed name. He gave up without struggle.

Doody is veteran of half a dozen recent gun fights and wanted in connection with two killings and several mail robberies.

He was caught in a third floor apartment on W. Jackson-blvd. Although armed with two revolvers, he failed to offer resistance.

WANTED IN SLAYING
Among the things police wish to question Doody about is the holdup last Friday of the Illinois Central train when a guard was shot and killed and $4,000 taken.

Doody was found in the company of a divorcee, known as Mrs. Taylor, and her six-year-old daughter.

Donald H. Holt, a clerk in the city water department, was also arrested today in connection with the Illinois Central robbery. The Sunday following the robbery he reported to police that the license plates on his automobile had been stolen. Police said they believed they were the plates used on the automobile used by the bandits in their escape.

Holt's sudden arrest was not explained.

BERWYN MURDER CASE

Doody has been wanted for the murder of Police Chief Charles Levy of Berwyn, a suburb, who was shot to death several weeks ago while questioning auto thieves, the wounding of Postal Inspector Evans Jackson and numerous robberies. In addition to the Illinois Central hold up.

On information that Doody was living on W. Jackson-blvd, planning escape from the city by airplane, four heavily armed squads raced to the address. The storming of his apartment was arranged with the care of a war-time maneuver.

Ten men armed themselves with shotguns and rifles and stationed themselves along the alley to prevent escape by a rear entrance. Three sharpshooters went to the roof and covered the Doody apartment and the door below. Others hid in the courtyard.

When four men went up the winding rear stairway, slit the screen door, which was locked and walked quietly into the apartment. Doody made no attempt to fight. Two revolvers were beside him on his bed.

VITS TESTIFIES BEFORE PROBERS

Says He Wrote 3 Letters Asking Senators to Favor Baking Powder Bill

Madison—(AP)—George Vits Manitowish, informed the senate lobby investigating committee Monday that he wrote letters of three senators, asking them to vote for the bill permitting baking powder companies to remove the word "alum" from their labels. The bill was recently vetoed by Governor Kohler.

Mr. Vits is Republican national committeeman for Wisconsin, and president and general manager of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company.

Assemblyman John Gamper, Medford, contradicted part of the testimony given the committee last week by William J. Morgan, Milwaukee, former attorney general, who is employed as counsel for the American Industrial League Association, composed of small loan companies.

INDUSTRIES FAVOR SALE OF STOCKS TO THEIR OWN WORKERS

Distribution of Securities Among Employees Makes for Loyalty

New York—(AP)—Business executives are almost a unit in approving the modern policy of great industries distributing their securities as widely as possible among employees and customers.

Various recent records show that stock ownership insures a nucleus at all times of loyal, diligent employees who know that their own prosperity would be adversely affected by any strike or other interruption of their company's activities.

Customer ownership of stock has built up a powerful reservoir of public good will and the general opinion is that it represents a successful policy as long as the companies can make their customers happy with generous dividends.

In 1924, the Standard Oil company of New York arranged for the purchase of common stock by employees. There were 21,208 workers who took advantage of the opportunity.

More than 5,000 of them dropped out but 16,225 paid for their stock over a five year period. Their holdings have increased in value by $28,046,335.03.

The General Motors corporation with its 208,981 employees, reports that 89 per cent of those eligible, or a total of 158,735 at the start of the year, were participating in the employee investment plan. A little arithmetic shows that any worker who put $300 into General Motors stock in 1923 received $2,680 this year.

In the other direction, with a view toward enlisting the good will and patronage of a wild public, the company has authorized a total issue of 750,000,000 common shares of which 43,500,000 are already outstanding.

The United States Steel corporation reports that 49,201 of its employees are registered on the company's books as stockholders and that 13,849 more are subscribing to shares on an installment plan.

The Western Union Telegraph company set aside 50,000 shares of stock in 1926 for employees, who paid in 23 monthly installments. Figures show a wide distribution of the stock among both employees and public. There are 25,000 stockholders, three fourths of whom hold 25 shares or less and 95 per cent hold 100 shares or less.

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey reports that 884,002 shares of common stock were purchased by 16,353 employees under the first plan started in 1925. The second offering was made in 1927 and 18,919 employees participated. A third offering was made recently with similar prospects of success. In each case the workers have three years to pay for the stock.

A. A. L. ISSUES 982 INSURANCE POLICIES

There were 982 adult insurance certificates issued by the A. A. L. Association for Lutherans during July according to the report submitted the association of trustees at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday. Its regular income in effect from the policies totals $1,348,500. For the seven months period of 1929, 5,645 policies have been issued for insurance amounting to $7,987,750.

Two hundred twenty-four juvenile policies were issued last month the report shows for insurance totalling $181,950. The association has issued 6,426 policies since the juvenile branch was organized, the insurance amounting to $4,721,650.

FEDERAL MAN PAYS VISIT TO HUCKINS

Inspector Out to Obtain Data on Source of Big Unreported Income

Milwaukee—(AP)—An inspector from the internal revenue department today went to Hancock, Wis., to see Elmer S. Huckins of Hancock and Milwaukee, in the government investigation of his alleged failure to file income tax reports.

The elder Huckins left Milwaukee, apparently today, and at his Hancock summer home it was reported he would be there Tuesday night. Hancock formerly was the home town of Huckins, who heads a mysterious business, reputed to pay its investors 25 per cent a year interest.

In some letters, according to the Milwaukee Journal, the elder Huckins has given L. S. Walker, cashier of the bank of Hancock, as a reference. There is in existence, the paper says, a letter from the bank in which Mr. Walker states that Huckins carries a large account there and that Walker has every confidence in Huckins' honesty and integrity.

Reaching him by long distance telephone Tuesday, the Journal quoted the following conversation between Walker and a reporter: "Does the bank vouch for Mr. Huckins?"

"His account has been satisfactory and we believe that he is all right," Walker replied.

BELIEVES HE'S O. K.
"Will you discount some of the notes Mr. Huckins has given to investors which call for about 26 per cent a year interest?"

"No, we can't do that. The bank is not taking any of the paper."

"Do you know in what business Mr. Huckins and his son invest the money they receive?"

"Yes, we do."

"Do you believe that it is a business that justifies the payment of such interest?"

"Well, I think the business is all right."

"What is the business?"

"We couldn't give out that information—he is a customer of the bank."

The Journal said no record can be found in the state income tax assessor's office of any income tax report filed by Huckins. It said federal authorities are checking income tax returns of investors in the Huckins enterprises and those who have not reported the dividends they received will later receive notices from both state and federal officials.

SENATE TURNS DOWN MARKHAM FUND BILL

per cent increase in the student body over the number enrolled two years ago.

The substitute ignores all the recommendation of the responsible officers of the university, the board of regents, and the joint finance committee, the communication said.

The regents feel that they would be untrue to their responsibility if they did not call attention of the senate to the fact that the proposal before it makes grossly inadequate provisions for the university, and request the senate to approve the equivalent of the appropriation recommended by the joint finance committee of the legislature after a careful study covering six months."

SUSTAIN VOTE
The senate today refused to join with the assembly to override Governor Kohler's veto of the Mauthe bill which would allow high school graduates over 21 to take work at the university without becoming candidates for degrees.

The assembly recently voted to pass the bill, despite the governor's veto. In the senate, however, friends of the bill were able to muster only 10 votes for overriding the veto, against 11 votes in support of the governor.

Those who voted for overriding the veto are: Casperson, Duncan, Hunt, Keppel, Mehigan, Polakowski, Rush, Severson, F. J. Smith, Teasdale—10.

Those who voted to support the governor: Blanchard, Reid, Caldwell, Carroll, Cashman, Daggett, Ferguson, Morris, Mueller, Roethe, White—11.

It would have required two-thirds majority to pass the bill over the governor's objections.

The senate passed to the governor the problem of deciding whether county clerks shall distribute auto license plates now issued by the secretary of state.

The upper house by vote of 15 to 7 concurred in Assemblyman Eastman's bill which would give county clerks the duty of distributing the licenses beginning Jan. 1, 1931.

MAN AND GIRL DIE IN COASTER MISHAP

St. Louis—(AP)—A 15-year-old girl and a man, 23, were instantly killed in an amusement park here last night when they were thrown from a car on a roller coaster as it made a turn at the top of an incline, 40 feet above ground. Two employees of the device were arrested for the coroner. The girl, Helen Brockmeyer, was thrown to the inside, her body landing on a lower track. The man was tossed to the outside, his death being caused by a broken neck.

Two employees held were James L. Shuck, the brakeman, and Maynard Shoemaker, the engineer who erected the device and was in charge of its operating. The coaster was only opened last Saturday.

BOMB TERROR GROWING IN CHICAGO, REPORT

Chicago—(AP)—The bomb and the racket, twin terrors to small merchants and tradesmen, have shown a sharp gain this year over last, the employers' association has found out.

Rackets cost the city $186,000,000 in 1928, according to computations by Joseph Neilsen, assistant secretary of the association. This represents an average cost of $35 for every man, woman and child in Chicago. Figures for 1929 indicate that the final total for the year will be even higher.

The bomb, which serves racketeers as a lash to whip victims into line, is more dangerous than the bomb of a year ago. The average damage of each bomb in 1928 was $1,214. The first bomb of 1929 was thrown Sunday night, 46 days earlier than bomb No. 71 was set off last year.

INDUSTRY BRINGS MANY NEW DISEASES

Menace of Tuberculosis Increases, Lecturer Points Out

San Francisco—Although the machine age has brought many new comforts and luxuries to the human race, it has also brought many new diseases and a greatly increased list of industrial accidents, which must be checked at once if they are not to assume terrifying proportions.

This is the warning sounded by Dr. W. C. Hassler, lecturer in preventive medicine at the University of California Medical School, and city health officer for San Francisco.

MANY NEW PROBLEMS
Putting his warning into a letter to California and Western Medicine, the official journal of the California Medical Association, Dr. Hassler makes this point:

"Our is an age of machinery, of synthetic products, including those of food and drink, and of new poisons in the mechanical arts and sciences. All these have wrought new stresses upon the body tissues of human beings, and new strains on the vascular and nervous systems.

In other words, the mind and the body are in a continuous struggle for supremacy over the factors that operate insidiously or acutely to injure the body structures or alter their activities in such a manner as to interfere with the full enjoyment of life and its normal span of existence."

Pointing out that the industrial world has a health problem all its own, Dr. Hassler urges compulsory health and accident education for all men and women in industry, with periodic health examinations and special courses in home hygiene. Continuing on this theme, he asserts:

"The relationship of diseases of industry to other diseases and to the general public health is not only well established but exceedingly important from the economic viewpoint."

"An illustration of this menace is well exemplified in tuberculosis among men in industry. The records of San Francisco reveal that, during the last 12 years, there were recorded 10,940 deaths from this disease. Of this number 73 per cent were men, and those to a large extent between the ages of 30 and 35, or in the prime of life."

"These men have generally established homes; they have wives and children, and usually these children are young. The experience of tuberculosis associations all over the world has proven that the major portion of the problems of social workers arise from this one phase of tuberculosis incidence. What is to happen to the families of such patients? They become the public responsibilities."

WASHINGTON KNOWS WHEN EMPLOYMENT IS GOOD OR BAD

Job Seekers in National Capital Aren't So Numerous This Year

Washington—Washington is always aware of the fact when employment conditions are bad over the country. When work is scarce elsewhere the situation is reflected by the thousands who come here looking for federal jobs, more often than not depending on a congressman to help them out.

A good percentage of them wind up at the federal employment service station on Pennsylvania-ave. The service learns that although more applicants have been provided with jobs here this year than last year, there haven't been nearly as many persons calling around for jobs.

There were more than 61,000 persons who registered at the office during the year ended July 1, but last year there were nearly 80,000. And the greater percentage of placements is shown in the fact that this year jobs have been found for 32,650 persons, as compared with only 27,105 in the year before.

This government agency, it appears, has lately been placing half the applicants only instead of a third as before.

Lately the attraction of the capital has been the government's big building program. Many workers appear to have come with too much confidence in an assumed demand for building help which doesn't exist. Some jobs have been open, of course, but the building is going on slowly and there is always a surplus of building labor here. The work is let out to private contractors who generally bring in their own crews.

Conferring on President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson of the Federal Reserve Board, the Sun reminds your correspondent of a story heard in Peru last year which dates back to the early days of that illustrious and aristocratic order.

The Order of the Sun gave a large banquet to celebrate its gift to one of Lima's many cathedrals of a massive pair of solid silver candlesticks, which were displayed proudly on a table.

A strong gust of wind came along suddenly and blew out all the lights. Within the windows had been closed and the lights restored it was found that one of the valuable candlesticks had disappeared.

A priest quieted the brethren and suggested that before anything drastic was done, the lights be extinguished again for two minutes, during which the thief would be permitted to return the loot. So the lights were put out.

When they were lighted again the other candlestick had disappeared. This story was vouched for, but no one seemed to know whether the sticks had been recovered.

The new Democratic publicity bureau, operated by Charles Michelson under the general direction of Jouett Shouse, is producing results with its daily attacks on the Republicans and their tariff efforts. One would hesitate to suggest just how much effect its propaganda barrage is having on the tariff makers, but it certainly is getting into the papers.

The Michelson method has been to the correspondents at least once a day a denunciatory statement from some member of Congress attacking some phase of the proposed tariff legislation. The Democratic newspapers are eating it up and playing this material on page one. And so are quite a few of the Republican newspapers.

Goodness knows how many of the lies and words are provided for Democratic senators by Mr. Michelson—probably a lot—but no Michelson effort in Washington for a long time back has been so successful from the standpoint of newspaper space. Large piles of marked newspapers at Democratic headquarters attest the fact.

Mr. Deets Pickett, the energetic research secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, has been kind enough to send your correspondent a clipping showing Swiss postal cancellation marks attacking the alcohol evil. The postmark shows a bottle labeled "Schnaps" and marked with skull and crossbones, alongside the warning "Der Schnaps vernichtet Familie und Volk" which is translated into "Drink ruins the family and the race." Of course, we have prohibition on our own statutes, but our government has never stamped such propaganda on our mail.

Mr. Pickett's clipping says the Swiss government stamps such a design and inscription "on every letter passing through the post." Inquiry at the Swiss legation, however, elicits the word that attaches do not remember receiving mail so marked at the guess that the special cancellation mark must have been used temporarily at some time in honor of some dry congress or conference, the Swiss government being accommodating that way. So this is still a pretty good story, but not as good as it might have been.

ZEP IS READY FOR 2ND LAP OF AIR CRUISE

Due to Start for Tokio Between 8 and 9 O'clock Tomorrow Night

Friedrichshafen, Germany—(AP)—Departure of the Graf Zeppelin on its flight to Tokio, second lap of a round the world cruise, was set definitely for Thursday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock a. m. (Wednesday between 8 and 9 o'clock p. m., Appleton time).

Dr. Hugo Eckener, after a "cabinet meeting" with his chief officers today decided to postpone the start.

Weather reports received during the night indicated a low pressure area over Siberia moving eastward more rapidly than had appeared yesterday afternoon. With a day's delay there was still hope that Dr. Eckener might be able to choose the Great Circle route west of the Bohemian mountains to Koenigsberg into Russia. Even should this hope be disappointed and he must, as yesterday seemed inevitable, choose a route along the Danube, the Zeppelin officers are convinced another day's wait will prove advantageous.

"I am quite pleased with the general weather situation as revealed by the latest reports," Captain Hans Fleming, in charge of navigation, told the Associated Press. "The main thing is that there is no general low area all over Europe and northern Asia. We know now we can get through to the east somewhere, whether by the northern or southern route and another day's wait can only improve the situation."

According to Captain von Schiller, pilot, the Russian government is leaving no stone unturned to supply the most adequate weather service possible in view of the rather scant number of stations along the route.

BISHOP CANNON IS STILL SPOKESMAN OF DRY SUPPORTERS

Revelations of His Stock Market Dealings Haven't Hurt Him

Washington—There were two significant things which have been rather overlooked in Bishop James Cannon's recent pronouncement upon the "modification" letter written by Chairman George W. Wickham of the National Law Enforcement commission to Governor Roosevelt of New York.

First, there is the fact that the bishop is continuing to function as the acknowledged mouthpiece of the dries. His standing as an oracle has yet to be damaged by revelation of his stock market speculations or the recent charges that he lent church money to Virginia Republicans in the presidential campaign.

A few months ago, when Senator Harris of Georgia tried to get an additional $25,000,000 appropriated for prohibition enforcement, it was the bishop who decided the official dry attitude. Other dry leaders had nipped the bill. General Superintendent W. Scott McBratney of the Anti-Saloon League and others had declared against the Harris amendment, along with Secretary Mellon. But Bishop Cannon came right out and demanded the $25,000,000. McBratney promptly changed his mind and so did the rest. That became the official dry attitude as soon as Cannon spoke.

The same thing happened with the Wicksham letter. Cannon, after all the other dries had had their opportunity to disagree over the merits and meaning of it, issued his pronouncement, and that was that. He went to great pains to explain which parts were "defeatist" and which were all right. And what he said has now become the official dry attitude.

The other significant thing was Cannon's use of the word "modification" which may forecast the day when the dries, when introducing new measures to tighten enforcement, will refer to them as proposed "modification."

"The passage of the Jones-Stalker law," said the bishop, "indicated the necessity for amendment of the Volstead Act and other modification of the prohibition laws doubtless will and should be made."

Well, of course, the Jones-Stalker law modified the law so that prohibition violators can be consigned to the hoosegow for five years and fined $10,000. And if that's modification, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment had better start working for something else. But it does look as if Bishop Cannon were going to become a modificationist, using the word in his new and bizarre sense. And the whole dry movement may adopt the word as its own.

The story goes here now that Wicksham's letter to Roosevelt was written in longhand and meant entirely for private consumption. The White House is said to have been astounded when Roosevelt read it out loud at the governors' conference in New York. Wicksham and Roosevelt had been friends for 30 years, which is given as the reason for Wicksham's frankness. Whether all this is true or not, it's impossible to jimmy even a hint of information from the crime commission or any of its members. But it may be related that one or two members, at least, showed signs of astonishment when the letter became news.

Vacationists returning to Washington from widely separated points insist that there are two main matters in Washington of interest to the country at large:

LABOR FEDERATION SEES YEAR OF MANY INCREASES IN PAY

Council Will Show How Much Was Gained By Laborers In Last Year

BY CHESTER M. WRIGHT.
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press Atlantic City, N. J. — "A year of wage increases" running into millions of dollars on the railroads alone, is the manner in which the current year will be described in the report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor now being formulated in sessions here.

"By the time the final draft of the report is made for submission to outstanding, I expect to have detailed and total figures to show how much has been gained this year by the organized wage earners," said President William Green of the A.
F. of L., discussing the work of the council.

"Aside from the war period, I doubt if we ever recorded such a volume of progress for betterment among the masses, and I say that despite the depressing conditions that still exist in some localities and some industries. To begin with, almost every large railroad has granted wage increases to its shop employees, without a single strike.

"I know of no important industry in which there has been a wage decrease. It has been a year of increases and we shall point to the fact that the added millions of dollars in pay envelopes have gone directly to the retail merchants of the country and on back through the various stages of commerce and transportation to keep all the wheels turning."

There never has been any effort to definitely measure the material gains of any year and if President Green can have for the council a tabulation which he hopes will include gains in wages and gains in reduced working hours and the shorter work-week, he will have enabled the council to set up a new kind of chart for annual judgment of organized labor's effectiveness.

President Green has also laid before the council complete information regarding plans for taking the coming federal census of unemployment. He revealed that it will be also a census of employment and of conditions by trades and industries.

"I have informed the council," he said, "that questions are being formulated with a view to developing information that will give us a picture of what may be called the normal volume of employment and unemployment."

Mr. Green is a member of the advisory committee named by the secretary of commerce to help work out census plans.

"I find every one anxious to direct this census," he said, "so as to reveal conditions in a manner that will make remedial measures possible."

As the matter now stands, the desire is to formulate questions that will show what each person has done during a year, how much he or she has been idle or at work. Then each person will be asked what has been his or her trade or occupation. We shall get at what is called technological unemployment by asking whether idleness has been caused by introduction of machinery, by trade conditions or perhaps by the abolition of an industry because of some discovery or invention.

"As now contemplated, the coming census will also probe into the causes of the growing amount of part time or broken time employment, particularly among women. The number of women employed two, three or four days a week is growing. Some factories operate on schedules arranged to meet desires for part time work by married women who want to devote the remainder of their time to their homes and families.

TO SPEED RETURNS.

"Consideration is being given to methods for speeding up the tabulations of returns. This is important because we shall want to take up with the government the matter of cooperation in developing remedies for such maladjustments as the census may reveal. It seems possible that instead of waiting perhaps a year or two for the tabulations, we shall have fairly complete returns within two months after the enumeration is finished."

It is expected, and the council will so report, according to President Green, that there will be many by-products of the census. One of the possibilities is showing up of child labor conditions. It is pointed out that the census may be expected to show up not only the number of minors lawfully employed, but also something of the number of minors who are employed in violation of law. Federation officials say that through their affiliated organizations and local representatives they constantly encounter violations of child labor laws, but there has never been available any broad check-up of this condition.

NEGROES INSIST ON RIGHT TO SWIM AT CHICAGO BEACHES

New Race Problem Is Being Created As Result Of Insistence

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
Chicago — Insistence of influential Chicago negroes that members of their race be permitted to swim at public beaches, is creating a new problem in race relations here.

Already several untoward incidents have occurred at the big and popular Jackson Park beach. Until the last few days this swimming place on the South side had been used solely by the whites. The sudden appearance of negro couples prepared to swim brought demonstrations of feelings.

Following these evidences of incipient trouble, the Chicago Tribune in a leading editorial suggested that the negroes of Chicago as a matter of policy, remain away from the beaches which the white citizens formerly held by themselves.

This suggestion did not strike a responsive chord among the colored citizens. Neither did it get the support of the city administration and on Sunday thirty policemen were on hand at the Jackson Park beach to preserve order. On this occasion almost no negroes appeared to swim.

Leaders of the local negroes now are demanding that the police assure members of their race equal rights at all public beaches and provide adequate protection for them.

"The situation is a menace to the welfare and peace of the community," said F. L. Barnett, a former assistant states attorney and well-known spokesman for the race. "I know that all good colored people want to be law abiding and I believe the whites do also."

EXPRESS BELIEF
"But I do not believe it is just that colored bathers should be attacked because they go bathing at the only place provided for citizens to bathe."

It is recalled that Chicago's race riots of 1919 had their start in an incident at an unpatrolled beach and both the negroes and whites express concern over the importance of the problem.

One solution suggested is for the city to provide bathing facilities on an equal scale for the colored people.
There now are over 200,000 of them on the southside and while one large park and several beautiful boulevards are considered theirs to enjoy in full, adequate beaches have not been provided.

Oscar De Priest, negro congressman representing the district, has been active in urging that members of his race demand equal privileges with the whites in all of their affairs and his suggestions are being given practical emphasis. Equal privileges at beaches always have been accorded in theory, but until now they have not been tested in practice.

never trouble and have about decided to consult you. Please explain more about your science — J. P. B.

ANSWER. People seldom stop to consider that the Power that gives life to the Human Body is the same strength. This power is omnipotent, omniscient and omnipresent. In its expression in the body it is called nerve energy or the vital force, and is usually spoken of as Nature. Many lose sight of the fact that for a person to keep well this life giving energy must permeate every organ, tissue and shred of their being. There must be a constant state of motion and nerve activity. There must be a continuity of action and re-action going on at all times. This is so because Nature intended it that way. Any deviation from it results in disaster, weakness and disease.

The nerves are so designed by nature that they convey or transmit this vital force throughout the entire body and their network penetrates every organ, tissue and cell.
Nerves exert an influence that is indeed hard to understand; yet that influence must be recognized in order to account for certain phenomena or mysteries of nature, and to understand the cause of disease and how to successfully combat disease when it is present. It is no wonder that people give down in health when the very thing that health is dependent upon becomes so badly mishandled, squeezed and pressed that the proper communication between brain and body cannot be normally carried on. The nerves are designed to give health to all organs and seen them in repair, but they must be free of pressure. Nerves like a one-way trolley track must not be checked either way. On the other hand it is nothing uncommon for an individual to regain his health from chronic illness when the obstructed nerve track is made clear. When impements are relieved at the spine.
When the proper adjustment is made, a free and uninterrupted nerve system will bring about and maintain conditions of good health.

BRITAIN'S WAR DEBT STAND

The implacable attitude adopted by Great Britain at The Hague conference in rejecting the Young reparations settlement, may be more political than real. When the British representatives at Paris agreed to scale down British claims and to accept the percentages and terms of Mr. Young's compromise they undoubtedly were acting with the knowledge and approval of the British government. Since that time the government has changed. The Baldwin Conservative ministry has been succeeded by the MacDonald Labor ministry, and Mr. Snowden's ultimatum to the conference may be directed against his predecessors as much as against the Young plan.

Four years before the Dawes plan was adopted the allies at the Spa conference in 1920 agreed to divide whatever reparations they received from Germany on the basis of 52 per cent for France; 22 per cent for Great Britain; 10 per cent for Italy, etc. Two years later Foreign Minister Balfour issued a note in which he proposed to write off "through one great transaction the whole body of inter-allied indebtedness." He added that if this were impossible, "in no circumstance do we propose to ask more from our debtors than is necessary to pay our creditors. And, while we do not ask for more, all will admit that we can hardly be content with less."

This pronouncement established the principle of matching reparations against war debts, and it was followed in drafting the Young plan. The British delegates to the Paris conference made good the commitment of Balfour, consenting to accept such reparations as would enable their government to break even in the liquidation of its own obligations.

All of the creditors agreed to scale down their claims, but not in the same proportion. In 1930 Great Britain would receive $40,000,000 less than she would have received under the Dawes plan. France would receive $80,000,000 less, but this amount would be $120,000,000 in excess of the total payments on her own war debts.

In justification of this excess of receipts against payments in the case of France is the fact that the original purpose of reparations was to reimburse the devastated countries for war damages. Since the destruction of property in Great Britain was relatively small in comparison with the enormous destruction in France, it may be argued that France is not unduly favored. The position of all the creditor governments is, of course, determined to a large extent by political considerations. They have to make good with the electorate on which they depend for maintenance of power and in each case this electorate has been educated to demand certain things and reject others. A change in government in Great Britain complicates the situation materially. It is, however, inconceivable that Great Britain will wreck The Hague conference by arbitrary action and a refusal to accept in substance the findings of the Young commission. The financial and economic state of all nations concerned and of Europe in general is involved in this attempt to make a final liquidation of war problems.

PRESIDENTIAL FISHING CAMP

President Hoover's fishing camp on the Rapidan river in the Blue Ridge mountains is to be decided by him to the national government as a permanent week-end refuge for future presidents. As it now stands, it is an excellent camp, with suitable buildings and approaches to make it convenient for a presidential party seeking sport and relaxation. It is only a few hours' drive from Washington, yet wild and secluded enough to afford complete change of scene.
The camp lies within the site of the proposed Shenandoah National park, which is why the president feels the park authorities should have charge of it. When the park becomes public property it will be desirable that no private property be held within its boundaries, in his view. If future presidents do not wish to avail themselves of the camp, the park board may dispose of it as seems best.

The plan is a generous one on the part of the president. Perhaps it will meet with better success than former President Coolidge's plan to establish a summer White house on Mt. Weather.

GERMANY'S ANNIVERSARY

Germany yesterday celebrated its tenth anniversary as a republic. There was universal popular rejoicing and entertainment throughout the nation. The observance leaves no doubt but what the vast majority of German citizens are irrevocably committed to republican government. There are, of course, a considerable number of die-hards and nationalists who favor a return to the monarchy and reestablishment of the Hohenzollern regime. They are not, however, of the class which is remaking Germany and upon which it depends for its economic development and social improvement. All of the new blood in Germany, practically speaking, is for the republic.

If a form of government is to be measured by what a nation achieves under it, the change in Germany has been of extraordinary success. Despite the heavy burdens imposed upon her by the peace terms, after emerging impoverished and emaciated from a lost war, Germany has in the short space of ten years put herself back in the running with other nations. She will have to shoulder a load for many years to come, but she has demonstrated her ability to carry it and is so rapidly accomplishing the work of reconstruction as to give her a promising if not assured future. Already there are economic experts who predict that Germany will out-distance her competitors in Europe in the next generation, England included.

All this has been created out of a new spirit, and that new spirit has, in the opinion of observing Americans, been due principally to Germany's new birth of political freedom. The republic has given impetus to individual initiative, ambition and self-assertion as never would have been possible under the paternalistic system that previously existed. She, therefore, celebrates the anniversary of its establishment with reason and pride.

FOREIGN HONESTY

The foreign sales of the Baldwin Locomotive works since the war have been impressive. Still more impressive has been the credit they so freely extended while making the sales.

Poland was a good example. Ten years ago, when that republic was hardly out of its baby clothes and its national boundaries, policies and finances were a matter of guesswork, the company sold it nearly $7,000,000 worth of locomotives on credit. Mr. Vauclain, president of the company, figured that Poland's great need was transportation, which required railroad equipment, and with locomotives, Poland would prosper and be able to pay its debts. He figured also that Poland was honorable, and would want to pay.

The same policy was pursued with several other struggling foreign governments. In three years the company had $20,000,000 of such credit outstanding. Many business men thought it was bad policy. "They would never pay," Poland has just made its final payment, and has never failed to meet principal and interest on or before the date of maturity. All the other debtors likewise have met their obligations on time.

Apparently Europe, even amid the post-war confusion, has been a better business risk than Americans expected. Such reports make our nation feel easier about its foreign investments and credits, and give us new respect for the Old world.

Contrary to popular opinion, running water is not always pure, says the United States Public Health service.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—America's air-mindedness is doing funny things to old-established traditions. For instance, soliciting of magazine subscriptions. The young solicitors used to ring doorbells in the interest of higher education. They all were trying to win a scholarship or get enough money for one more year at college.

Now it's an aviation course they contemplate. A Manhattan housewife was surprised the other day by a young man who urged her to sign up for a periodical so he could get a pilot's license. He said he had taken his ground course and wanted to follow it up with flying instruction. Suspicious, the woman called the magazine's local office and was told the story was bona fide.

"DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP"
But there is one place unaffected by the interest in aviation. It's the water-front, where tugs barge along without fear of losing prestige to the wings of planes that sometimes drop down among them.

Salvage steamers, derricks and divers give evidence that days of thrilling sea stories are not lost, although many of these stories are recorded only in the unromantic logs of cargoes retrieved and damaged hulls repaired.

There is something majestic even in a floating derrick hoisting from the hold of a British ship the trunk of an English oak, a thousand years old, destined to be converted into furniture. Or lifting great marble blocks from Italy, a 220,000-pound turbine from Albany, a fragile racing yacht from Holland.

But the salvaging of ships and cargoes is perhaps the most stirring operation of prosaic craft anchored at this port. Sometimes they stay in nearby harbors, combing the underwater floor for valuables. One boat did this for two years before the divers discovered a cargo of copper that had sunk six feet in the harbor's silt.

Then there's the story of the S. S. Steelmaker, stranded in the south seas, 700 miles below the equator. The salvage steamer Peacock raced to its aid from San Pedro, Cal., patched its side with cement at Pago Pago and towed it into New York. The voyage of 9,727 miles was the longest ever made just to save a ship.

This may be a day of speed, with liners setting new records between continents, but the slow-going boats still have their uses. One now is towing a hydraulic dredge to Callao, Peru. The voyage of 3,600 miles will require at least 30 days.

ROPE PAPER

Salvaging of a different kind is the business of Charles Maronna, over in Brooklyn. Enormous quantities of old rope are collected from ships on the 300 miles of waterfront in New York harbor and brought to Maronna. He in turn sells it to tissue paper manufacturers, who use it in making their products.

In the neighborhood of Maronna's pier there are some 25 firms manufacturing dress patterns, napping, bags and other paper products. They take not only his rope, but also old paper, burlap bags and rags picked up in far and near sections of the world.

NORWAY'S INDEPENDENCE

A growing desire for absolute national autonomy was climaxed on Aug. 13, 1905, when Norway declared for a dissolution of its union with Sweden by the overwhelming total of 388,200 against 184 votes in a referendum.

On Aug. 31 of that year, a conference of Swedish and Norwegian delegates met at Karlstad to arrange a settlement of questions arising from the separation, and on Sept. 23 the final protocol was signed.

It included an agreement for the submission of all differences affecting the integrity, independence or vital interests of the two countries to The Hague Tribunal of Arbitration, the agreement to run for a period of ten years. A neutral zone, extending 15 kilometers on either side of the frontier between the two countries, was established, within which the carrying on of war operations, the stationing of troops or the maintenance of fortifications were prohibited. The Karlstad agreement was approved by the Norwegian Diet on Oct. 9 and by the Swedish Riksdag on Oct. 13. On the sixteenth the Riksdag passed bills repealing the act of union with Norway and recognizing the latter as an independent state.

NERVOUSNESS AND CHEESE

Why waste space, inquires a nervous correspondent, juggling terms? Whether nervousness is a disease or merely a symptom of some disease condition that affects (the correspondent says effects, but he is typing his letter and he is nervous) the nervous system, matters little to the sufferer, so why waste precious space?

Then six or eight hundred words farther along the nervous correspondent takes up cheese and demands what I mean cheese is not binding. What kind of cheese? Under what circumstances? How much cheese?

Then presently the nervous correspondent gets on a racehorse. The horse, trained fine and ready to run the derby never shows any signs of nervousness, eh?

And how can I pretend I do not give medical advice; is my advice about cheese not being binding anything else than medical advice? About nervousness and cheese I am willing to reason with our nervous friend; not about race horses: You see, I am more or less an expert on nervousness and cheese; not about race horses.

If a person feels "nervous" or behaves "nervously" when about to run a race, speak a piece, take an examination or undergo any test, risk or trial, and clearly recognizes that his discomfort or strange behavior is due to anxiety or fear, there is no great objection to that and he may call it "nervousness" if he wishes, though the nerves have little to do with it. But when a person attempts to explain all health as a state of nervousness or as due to nervous strain or anything like that, then I think it is the duty of any health adviser or teacher to strive to discourage that mistake whenever he can. In all I have said about the "nervous breakdown" fallacy my nervous friend will find another to warrant his attempt to impute to me a mere quibbling about terms. I have said again and again that as a rule the real disease or ailment of the victim of the "nervous breakdown" fallacy is not in the nervous system at all; and on the other hand, the majority of patients who actually have disease of the nervous system are not at all of the "nervous" type and would not be considered "nervous" by the ordinary observer.

AMERICANS ABROAD IN TOUGH WITH MARKETS

Paris (AP)—Wealthy Americans in France prefer to operate on their own home stock markets and a growing cable business in buying and selling has resulted. At least five American houses established in Paris offer the usual comforts of a broker's office, with New York Stock Exchange and Curb Market prices posted momentarily and a full complement of American financial journals.

Trans-Atlantic operations are not confined to Americans, however. One house reports that many of its steady customers are Frenchmen, who, until a year or two ago confined their trading in securities to the Paris Bourse. Even odd-lot buyers are regular patrons.

Until last year, when the French government removed its ban on the export of currency, only those who kept large accounts in the United States patronized the cable companies in New York trading. That ban removed, Americans and others whose entire funds are deposited on this side of the water have taken advantage of the bull market.

All France has recently been interested in New York operations and extensive reports are carried daily by the principal newspapers.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The gods of drama, too, work in mysterious ways. Three or four years ago a New York playwright, famous as librettist and lyric writer for musical comedies, was "kicking himself hard" for not settling down to do a few straight dramas. He had a weather eye on the lucrative movies, of course, which would be almost certain to grasp and adapt a fair or better Broadway play.

But somehow William Cary Duncan never got around to it, seriously. He kept on writing musical comedies. Now he is writing directly for the movies, in Hollywood under contract, and he yet is to write that play "for the movies." What he now writes will, as likely as otherwise, emerge on the screen as musical comedy. The movie changed a little in those three or four years. But Duncan says he still will write that play, some day.

Duncan used to teach English and public speaking at the Brooklyn Polytechnic school, where, incidentally, among his pupils was young Edward Everett Horton, now a stage and screen favorite.

Even while teaching, Duncan was writing plays, and had several produced before he left the school to become a fulltime librettist. To date he has written 26 musical comedies, 22 of which reached and played on Broadway—a much better than average dramatic "batting average."

But he thinks the future of musical comedy lies principally in the talking screen, and that's why he is out here, having sacrificed a large royalty in Vincent Younan's latest musical show to accept the present contract.

MADE TO ORDER

Here are a few of his observations after 20-odd years of musical comedy writing:

"I never knew a musical comedy produced that was written before it was sold. Hundreds of manuscripts are read by producers, but the ones produced are all, so far as I know, written on order."

"You don't actually 'write' a musical comedy. Half the work is during rehearsals, slashing, building up, tearing down, revising. For a screen musical I believe the same would apply—but of course I admit I know little or nothing about the screen as yet."

BURIED HUMOR

"Acting or the camera actors are likely to overlook a hundred laughs hidden in a play. Acting for an audience the player senses these hidden laughs, and can go after them like a bloodhound on the scent until he gets them. A remedy? Here's one, although it's hardly possible: Have the entire play performed before an audience three or four nights before starting production."

WISCONSIN DAIRY HERDS AMONG HIGH RECORD PRODUCERS

State Holds Many Records In National Holstein Asso- ciation Tests

Wisconsin is one of 41 states and 4 districts that have developed high producing Holsteins, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. In the three divisions reported, this state holds 132 of the 1,664 records above 800 pounds butterfat in 365-day division, 21 of the 252 records above 700 pounds butterfat 875 pounds butter in the 10-month division that has developed in the past seven years, and 51 of the 1150 records above 25 pounds butterfat in the 7-day official test with better than a 4-1-2 pound butter average daily production in the short-time testing.

In the 365-day division, 5 records above 1200 pounds butterfat, 21 from 1100 to 1200 pounds, 188 from 1000 to 1100, 353 from 900 to 1000, and 1177 from 800 to 900 pounds, have been recorded to March 31, 1929. Of these Wisconsin Holsteins hold none in the 1200 pound class, none at 1100 pounds, 5 at 1000 pounds, 49 at 900 pounds, and 132 at 800 pounds butterfat.

In the 305-day division, 6 records above 900 pounds of butterfat (1125 butter), 36 between 800 and 900, and 210 between 700 and 800 pounds, have been recorded to March 31, 1929. Of these Wisconsin Holsteins hold 1 above 900 pounds of butterfat, 1 between 800 and 900, and 4 between 700 and 800 pounds butterfat.

COURT DECISION HITS GRAIN DEALS

Judge Closes Board of Trade Debt As 'Gambling' In Ruling

Chicago — (AP) — Board of trade deals are "gambling debts," an Illinois circuit court has ruled in a case now before the appellate court—a decision which may be of great importance in the financial world.

It concerns the legality of contracts between customers and members of the Chicago board of trade for purchase and sale of grain and provision futures, bids and offers, subsequently resulting in speculation.

William McCabe, a farmer, was sued by James K. Rorion, a member of the board, to foreclose a mortgage and recover on two notes for a total of $55,000, given in settlement of losses for alleged speculation on the board.

TEXAS "U" EXPENSES PAID BY OIL WELLS

Madison — (AP) — This is the way a university can find sufficient funds to pay its growing expenses:

Strike oil.

That is the solution the University of Texas found, according to L. J. Wardlow, defeated candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Texas, who was here Saturday.

The appropriations of the University of Texas, according to Mr. Wardlow, have never been brought to the attention of the legislature because of extensive land grants made during the last century.

Attempts to sell part of the land were made when the university of state needed money, but some technicality always prevented.

Mr. Wardlow said, Now, four oil wells have been found, from which a monthly income of $200,000 is spouting.

"And it hasn't been scratched yet," said Mr. Wardlow.

The university also has a fund of $10,000,000 of which only the interest can be used, and the legislature appropriates about $5,000,000 for each biennium.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

Rookie Flier Still Feels In Air After Taking Berth

New York — (AP) — Officials of the Pullman Company probably would be surprised to learn that their sleepers on one division of the Santa Fe are going off nights, like witches, to fly through the blackness of the night.

At least, testimony that the cars are doing this could be obtained from some of the novices who have made the transcontinental air-rail journey on the line laid out by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

On that line a night on the Santa Fe, going either east or west, follows a full day in the air. A first flight of short duration may give thrills but a prolonged flight has the effect on the novice of making his mind think he is still flying after he is back on earth, just as a person long at sea walks with a rolling gait even after landing.

A recent passenger from California on the plane-train line, who had never flown before, completed his first day in the air, to Clovis, N. M., with such complete lack of discomfort that he complimented himself on the ease with which he adapted himself to the new mode of travel. But that was before he rolled into his train sleeper for the night jump to Waynoka, Okla.

"I was flying all night in my sleep," he told fellow passengers the next morning. "Every time the train jerked I fell about 1,000 feet and when it leaned on a grade I executed a vertical bank that would have won me a pilot's license from any Department of Commerce Inspector. I liked flying in a plane all right, but flying in a train was not so good."

This passenger took to the air again in the morning, however, for another full day of actual flying and by nightfall he had in fact adapted himself to flying and his second night on the rails was passed with all due regard to the law of gravitation.

Aviation officials believe that these long flights on the transcontinental lines will do far more toward making accustomed fliers out of novices than any number of short hops, even though they may temporarily have such trick results as making the passengers feel as if they were still flying after they come down.

SARGON BRINGS HER GAINS OF 22 POUNDS

"Just imagine gaining 22 pounds from any medicine! It seems almost unbelievable, but seven bottles of Sargon have built me up from 118 to 140 pounds.

"For the past nine years I've been in bad health. My food seemed never to agree with me. I lost weight and strength steadily and became dreadfully run down. I seemed never to get a good night's rest and was tired out all the time. I was continually constipated and my skin was very yellow.

"Sargon helped from the start; I could feel its strengthening effects immediately. The color came back to my cheeks—my appetite is splendid and I never have indigestion. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation in an easy, natural manner and my whole system is so strengthened I get plenty of good sleep and feel fine all the time. I give Sargon all the credit for my wonderful health." — Mrs. Martha Brodowski, 1494 Tenth Ave., Milwaukee.

LYNN REVUE WILL ENTERTAIN CROWDS AT SEYMOUR FAIR

Troup Of Singers And Musi- cians To Feature Entertain- ment Program

Seymour—Grace Lynn and her gang who will entertain the crowds at the Seymour fair has been a feature of the largest theatres in the country, many leading Chicago hotels and cafes, for the past several seasons and are always "the life of the party" wherever they appear, according to Secretary George Fiedler. Their repertoire consists of hilariously funny character numbers, Hawaiian melodies, instrumental duets, accordion and guitar duets, and fast peppy, popular numbers, and last but not least, Miss Grace Lynn, the prima donna of the revue, solos, both vocal and operatic. Miss Lynn possesses an unusual, full rich contralto voice.

This combination of two ladies and two men has been featured over various broadcasting stations throughout the country. Their costuming is appropriate and they make attractive and graceful pictures in their artists' smocks and caps, as well as their evening apparel and their Spanish costumes. They will stroll, sing and play through the grandstand and the exhibition hall, during the afternoon and appear in front of the grandstand with Robinsons revue at night.

BRITISH-CANADIAN AIR SERVICE IS FORECAST

Montreal — (AP) — Confidence in the development of a transatlantic air route between Great Britain and Canada via the Faroe islands, Iceland, Greenland and Labrador, was expressed today by Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of the Imperial Airways, Limited, who is in Canada on a brief business trip.

He expressed belief that the future would find aeroplanes, fitted with an amphibian gear enabling them to fly from water or rough ice, operating on a regular service.

Fascism Enjoined On Italian Universities

Rome — (AP) — Fascism is the sole political force drawing breath in Italian universities today, as a result of an order promulgated by Augusto Turati, Secretary of the Fascist party.

No professor may teach in the higher schools in Italy unless he is approved by the little booklet on the order of a passport. And this tessera is not given unless the instructor declares himself in full accord with the principles of Mussolini's government.

In line with the Fascist policy of organizing individuals into groups, the professors must enroll themselves in small bodies, over each of which a leader is placed.

The Fascist newspapers say that although attacks may be made on the order by liberal-minded professors, universities of Italy will emerge the better for it.

"The liberal university," says the Tribune, "which existed the greatest coquetry of intellectual liberty, socialism, renunciation, anti-militarism and the like: the University where one admired more freely the professor opposing the State than the orthodox professor, in which the 'right of laziness' of the students corresponded to the right of every single professor of exhibiting his own ethics, his own religion, his own politics—certainly this University ought to die."

The Fascist Secretary's order begins: "In my capacity as Secretary Publication, conferences, lectures if the Party I assume the direct organization of the professors, free teachers and assistant instructors of Fascist Universities, the most important category of studies efficiently operating in the Kingdom, with the definite intention of giving them a solid and harmonious organization according to the principles and the necessity of Fascism."

Turati assigns to the professors two fields of activity. The first is in the University, where they are to study the best means for carrying on lectures, examinations and the academic life. The second field is in the Fascist Federations or organizations. Says Turati:

"In the Fascist Federations the University of Professors will carry the precious contribution of their wisdom; the organizations of the party ought to utilize these comrades who by the most difficult discipline have become learned savants; conventions, all the intellectual activity of the Party ought to be done directly with the collaboration of the University professors, who ought to find in the new organization the realization of their personality."

The watch services ended Sunday morning with a communion service. Study periods preceded the classes which were attended by the delegates. The courses offered in the leadership training school included primary Department Administration, A Study of Later Childhood, Material and Methods of Vocational Guidance, Life in the Growing and a course in the New Testament. Diplomas were awarded to 50 graduates Saturday evening at the graduation exercises.

CHINESE SEEK TO GIVE GIRLS BETTER DEAL

Shanghai—(AP)—One of the hopes of the nationalists is to give the baby girl equal rights with the baby boy. The Chinese boy for ages has had much the best of it all around. He is longed for and prayed for and when he arrives he is pampered and spoiled. Wage earners are the thing out here—the boys earn much more than girls. It has been the custom of centuries. A girl is not wanted, but the new regime would change all this, or at least, put the little Chinese misses on an equal footing, in parental eyes, with the tiny male members of the family.

Wrapped Treatment of Skirt

2897

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON

A jaunty printed silk crepe in rust tones in geometric motifs, achieves a decidedly slenderizing line through wrapped treatment of skirt laid in youthful plaits at side.

An interesting new detail is tie collar with loose hanging ends. The sleeves with turn-down flaring cuffs, are fitted through wrists. The back is slim and straight crossed by belt to hold in surplus fullness.

Style No. 2897 can be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It's easily made and at a small outlay.

It's stunning too for resort wear in peach shade crepe de chine, chartreuse green chiffon, flowered chiffon, yellow washable silk crepe, printed chiffon voile in orchid, and white gingham check and suntan-blege silk.

Almond green tiny check in sheer woolen is sportive for immediate wear and lovely for early fall.

Burgundy silk crepe, black crepe satin, wine-red canton crepe and Romanesque crepe in slate blue are advanced fall ideas.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department, The Large Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern.

DAY PAJAMAS HAVE FRILLS, FRIPPERIES

Paris—(AP)—The difference between daytime and nighttime pajamas is about 12 inches width in the trouser legs, according to present style standards.

Daytime suits, in a majority of cases, have trousers that are almost as wide as skirts. Many of them are shirred from the waist. Others have fitted hips with the flare beginning above the knee.

Some of the more frivolous daytime pajamas have narrow pleated ruffles in place of trouser cuffs. The same pleating appears again on the bottom of the jacket.

DISCREDIT STORY OF WOMAN'S KIDNAPING

Milladore—(AP)—Acting on a report that Mrs. Roscoe Hildebrand of Minneapolis, had been kidnapped by six bandits who held up the car in which she and her husband today started an extensive search only to find her wandering about the streets of Milladore. She would not confirm the kidnapping report, and police were inclined to discredit it.

A little later, police found her husband and arrested him for being drunk and disorderly. He had telephoned Stevens Point police that bandits had kidnapped his wife, presumably because of the jewels she wore. When found, she had all her jewelry.

TWISTED BEAD CHOKERS TAKE ON NEW COLORS

Paris—(AP)—"Better to have an old dress and new costume jewelry than out-of-date jewelry and a new dress," advises one of the bi-monthly fashion publications here which is a style gospel to millions of French women.

Last-minute costume jewelry designed for summer wear is decidedly semi-precious in character for the time. Most of it is colored glass or dyed flour and water beads strung together in long strands which are twisted like rope of vari-colored threads.

The blue note is new and twists of dark blue and jade green are used for choker collars three quarters of an inch in diameter. Yellow costume jewelry died a quick death but all-white twists of beads remain in favor.

Manifold strings of twists of small pearls, interspersed with an occasional pearl bead the size of a pea, are the popular evening and afternoon ornament of the moment.

Fitzmaurice performed the ceremony. Bridesmaids were Miss Rose Geurts, Appleton, and Bernice Vande Wittenberg, Edolph. Frank Van Dyn Hoven, Little Chute, and Raymond Gloude-mans, Appleton, attended the bridegroom. A reception and dinner for 85 guests took place at Columbia hall. Supper was served in the evening. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyn Hoven will make their home in Appleton.

Van Dyke performed the ceremony. Peaches Derks acted as bridesmaid and Harold Van Dyke was best man. THE ALL-WHITE COSTUME LEADS FOR EVENING

Paris—(AP)—The all-white costume leads the field for evening at all smart summer resorts, dressmakers' mannequins report, back from the fashion parades which open the season at such places as Vichy, Dinard, Deauville, Le Touquet and Juan-les-Pins.

With the white evening-dress of chiffon or satin is worn a white coat, usually without fur and of hip length or less. The short wraps recognize the flared and long-skirted evening dresses which now are worn to the exclusion of even hemmed frocks by the majority of smartly gowned women.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

POOR Clowny, still atop the pole, looked 'round and said, "Well, bless my soul, I guess that I'm marooned up here. There's no one around about. But, up here in the sun all day I know that I will melt away. I'll have to call for help. I guess, I hope they hear me shout."

And then he cried out loudly, "Hey, you Tynymites, come round this way. I'm up here on the main tent and I simply can't get down. I can come up here to fix the tent and then away a big rope went. Of course it left me starved. Oh, have mercy on this clown."

We waited. Then he heard a cry, "All right," yelled Scouty in reply. "We're coming and we'll help you down, if we can find a way." And down then the Tynymites ran up near and Coppy shouted, "Well, look here. Poor Clowny's way up in the air, but doesn't want to stay."

"I know a way to give him aid," said Carpy, "If he's not afraid. The rest of you stay here and I'll return with a surprise. I have a very brilliant hunch that I am sure will please the bunch. Just wait and it will be a treat for everybody's eyes."

Then Carpy scampered on his way. When he returned the bunch yelled, "Hey!" Where did you get that queer giraffe, and just what good is he?" King Carpy answered: "His long neck will do much more than you expect. He's going to let wee Clowny slide right down it. Wait and see!"

The giraffe then held his neck in air and slowly walked right up to where poor Clowny hung onto a post. The Tynymites gathered 'round. It wasn't long till Clowny tried the funny neck. My, what a slide. He whizzed along and shortly landed safely on the ground.

New York Society Girl Finds Adventure Galore

Moscow—(AP)—Miss Mary Van Enssaeer Cogswell, New York society girl, has arrived here temporarily penniless and in borrowed clothing after a series of adventures in which she tilted with European officialdom and red tape with true American abandon. With her was Mrs. Mabel Ingalls, also of New York, who had shared most of the adventures. The climax came when Miss Cogswell was thrown into a jail as a spy.

At the start of the recently concluded American tour of the Soviet Union Miss Cogswell gained a small niche in the hall of fame by being the first person ever to pass openly the frontiers of the Soviet Union without a Russia visa. She had started without going through the formality rather than miss the tour and succeeded in wedding entry out of border officials.

Both women left the delegation at Tiflis, Georgia, and made their way into Armenia with the intention of becoming the first of their sex to climb Mount Ararat, a 7,000-foot peak that few men have succeeded in surmounting, and according to Biblical legend, on whose peak Noah's ark came to a halt. They were saved their strength, however, by the flat refusal of both Turkish and Persian governments to permit them to try it.

They then attempted to make their way through the Ossetian mountains, in the main Caucasian range in southern Russia, on horseback but were arrested by the political police in Kutais for taking photographs without permission. They were detained two hours until the police established that they were members of the American party.

Their horses being exhausted after a 50-hour journey the women hired a motorbus for $75 to take them to Vladikavkas. To offset this expense they picked up passengers on the way and collected $55 in fares. Miss Cogswell acted as conductor and Mrs. Ingalls as chauffeur.

The only real tragedy of their odyssey came when they were journeying to Moscow on the regular railroad train from Vladikavkas. Miss Cogswell's passport, jewels and several hundred dollars in currency were stolen.

Only ten girls of 25 passed athletic efficiency tests at Pierce park last Thursday afternoon. Another test will be given next week. Girls qualifying are: Mamie Chall, Margaret Weiskopf, Joyce Verboten, Gertrude Wurm, Kathleen Noel, Stella Falk, Annette Lehrer, Carolyn Boettcher, Caroline Maurer and Angela Parker.

Eight boys were successful in passing their athletic efficiency tests. They are: Milan Endter, Carlton Knight, Cyril Maxwell, Edward Delrow, Howard Gmeiner, Raymond Kruse, George Bronald and Earl Lorenz.

A swimming meet for playground boys was held at the municipal pool last week. Third ward playground with a well balanced team walked off with major honors with the First ward and Fifth ward trailing far behind. Excellent performance in the various events bids well for the Appleton playground team in their match with Neenah in the near future.

Results of the meet: 20 yard dash (midgits)—E. Gainer, (Fifth); J. Horton, (First); G. Rooney, (Third). Time: 12 seconds. 20 yard dash (Juniors)—Dobberstein, (Third); H. Millen, (First); Stover, (Third). Time: 10.4 seconds. 40 yard dash (midgits)—E. Gainer, (Fifth); G. Rooney, (Third); P. Millen, (First). Time: 30.9 seconds. 60 yard dash (Junior)—Dobberstein, (Third); Stover, (Third); H. Millen, (First). Time: 37 seconds. Side stroke for form (midgits)—Gosha, (Third); P. Millen, (First); Ellenbecker, (Third). Crawl stroke for form (Juniors)—H. Millen, (First); B. Frieders (Third); Trettien, (First). Diving (Midgits)—P. Millen, (First).

Various types of swimming tests still hold interest of youngsters at Appleton playgrounds and many more have qualified for ratings in the various classes. The following girls have recently passed test I. Anna Maurer, Catherine Fountain, Mary Strelck, Agatha Schmidt, Virginia Young, Mamie Chall, Jane Ritaker, Billy Biler, Helen Nabbe-teldt, Veronica Boehm, Kathleen Noel, Jane Gerow, Bernice Williams.

Girls who have passed test 2 are: Sylvia Lietz and Helen Heideman. Boys who have successfully passed the swimming efficiency test are: Joseph Viotto, Carlton Knight, Franklin Miller, Richard Karwelck, Francis Crane, Robert O'Neill and Isadore Zussman. Test 1 has been passed by Arlo Callahan, Harvey Lemke, a post. The Tynymites gathered 'round. It wasn't long till Clowny tried the funny neck. My, what a slide. He whizzed along and shortly landed safely on the ground.

TRIES TO THRILL CROWD AND DIES IN ATTEMPT

Damariscotta, Me.—(AP)—The attempt of Loring Burnham, 32, of Damariscotta Mills, to thrill a crowd of spectators cost him his life. After making several dives from the top of an iron bridge here into the river, Burnham, although warned, started to strip off insulation on a high tension line running the length of the span. He lost his balance and grabbed the almost bare wire. The force of the current held him until the high voltage, short circuiting through his body, melted one of the strand and he dropped into the river 30 feet below.

INVENTOR BUILDS HOME OF CASEIN AND DURALUMIN

New Invention Would Do Away With Furnaces And Wash Days

BY JOE LOVE
Chicago—Six-room house, constructed of best quality casein and duralumin, with 90-foot mast. Located 300 miles from city. Will sell for 50 cents per pound.

This may be a sample of the real estate advertisements on the pages of newspapers around 1939 if Richard B. Fuller's new idea in home-building is successful.

Fuller has resigned a house which does away with furnaces, wash days, and the need of a large purse. It is flood-proof, can stand up under a 1,000-mile gale, and will be sold by the pound.

Here's how it happened. Fuller, formerly in the building business, became dissatisfied with the style, time, and cost of house construction. Why, he argued, were houses always built of stone or wood, material used 5,000 years ago merely because they were close at hand?

INVENTIVE AGE!
"In this age of achievement and invention, it still takes from six months to a year to build a simple dwelling, inadequate at best," he says. "In less time than this, squadrons of airplanes and destroyers, and a million and a half autos are built."

Seven years ago Fuller applied himself to designing a house that could be factory-made at a small cost, and erected quickly. Bricks are not used in airplanes or ships, yet planes withstand wind speed up to 350 miles an hour, he reasoned, so why not use the same materials in building a house?

BUILT LIKE AIRPLANE
Fuller's strange house is constructed "light, taut and strong after the manner of the airplane," with a central mast of duralumin tubes (an alloy of aluminum). From the top of the mast a six-sided structure is suspended above the earth by steel cables. The walls and windows are of double sheets of casein, made in transparent, opaque or translucent form, with vacuums between to insulate the heat. The walls hold in the heat so that overflow of the lighting and power generating system are capable of heating the whole house.

The lights, centralized in the mast-head, are transfused by mirrors and lenses throughout the rooms in any intensity or color desired. The floors are of piano wire in spider-web formation, overlaid with an inflatable covering. The partitions are suspended above the floor pumped up to meet them and seal the edges. All the fitting is done by expansion, by inflating rather than cutting to fit, with its attendant waste.

MANY CONVENIENCES
In the grill is a gas range, ice box and dishwasher. All shelves are revolving like the seats of a ferris wheel, making it unnecessary to reach for them. A basement washer will also be installed into which single pieces of linen can be thrown and automatically washed below.

The beds are of rubber and can be inflated to the desired hardness. The first floor is reached by a simple elevator in the mast. Underneath the overhanging house is a garage or hangar for an airplane. Rolling metal curtains form the doors.

Fuller says the complete house will weigh when finished about 6,000 pounds and can be sold at 50 cents a pound.

BANDIT, ARM IN SLING, STABS MAN WITH ICE PICK

Milwaukee—(AP)—His arm in a sling, Read Bauer, 21, climbed along a narrow railing on an apartment house 75 feet from the ground early this morning, entered an apartment through the window and stabbed the tenant, Ernest Peters, 39, with an ice pick during an attempted robbery.

Peters is in emergency hospital in a precarious condition, refusing to permit an operation to save his life. Bauer is in jail charged with an attempt to kill.

Peters awakened about 3 o'clock a. m., when his wife screamed on finding the robber standing at her bedside. The tenant grappled with the robber and when he pulled the latter's fractured arm the robber shrieked and plunged the pick into Peter's body.

Then Bauer slid down a drain pipe to the second story and fled down the stairs to the street. A policeman who had just been informed of the attempted robbery over the police telephone saw Bauer and took him into custody.

Legionnaires Parade Today At Convention In Kenosha

Kenosha—(AP)—The big parade, or to be more exact, the 1929 American legion version of it, will swing through the streets of Kenosha today.

With 26 musical organizations in the line of march, it will be the day's feature of the Wisconsin departmental legion convention that is being held here.

Coming first of all will be the "Boys of 76," the champion drum corps of Racine Post, No. 76. The Milwaukee Carollers, an auxiliary singing organization, will also have a place. This organization made so great a hit at last night's banquet that Watson P. Miller, Washington, national rehabilitation chairman, wrote a check for $50 to start a fund with which to send the Carollers to the national convention at Louisville.

Gov. Walter J. Kohler was the speaker at the banquet. He asked the thousand service men who attended to approach their civic duties today with the same spirit that in 1917 prompted them to march off to war ready to die for their country.

"A state worth fighting for is a state worth maintaining," the governor told them. He also outlined the

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Hoover, Engineer, Keeps Guests Busy At Retreat

Washington—(AP)—A weekend with President Hoover at his Virginia recreation camp is anything but one of rest for the officials and friends whom he invites to share with him the rugged beauties of the Blue Ridge mountains.

Those unaccustomed to strenuous exercise—that is, most of them—return to Washington with muscles sore and that "all gone" feeling which comes from trying to keep pace with a man of the unusual strength and nervous energy of the chief executive.

Almost as soon as he reaches the new summer White House, Mr. Hoover sheds his role of president and becomes the engineer, seeking new problems to solve and new difficulties to overcome. There is the spirit of the boy about him as he sallies forth at the head of his "construction gang."

This "gang" has much the appearance of a real construction outfit going forth to the day's labor. Each has his pick and his crow bar, carried loosely in his hands or swung in workmanlike style across the shoulder. The novices go forth

ALLEGED SHOPLIFTERS ARE HELD FOR BRIBERY

Kenosha—(AP)—Alleged to have been engaged in shoplifting on a large scale, Harvey Gold, 26, of Chicago, and his wife, Beatrice, 24, were booked here late yesterday on charges of bribery.

Police claim that the couple admitted shoplifting operations in Waukegan, Ill., Racine and Kenosha, and claimed that they always "bought their way out" when they got into difficulties. They are alleged to have offered Detective Grover Lutter $225 and a new automobile if he would let them get away instead of bringing them here from

Cubs Drop 10 Inning Decision To Boston, 4 To 3

MACKS BEAT TIGERS WHILE YANKEES ARE LOSING TO INDIANS

Babe Ruth Gets Thirty-first Homer Of Season But Hugmen Lose

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE day of miracles may not be over but it would take a highly trusting nature to bet that Chicago and Philadelphia will not meet in the world series this fall.

With two months to go before the season closes on Oct. 6 the growing Cubs Joe McCarthy has developed at Chicago held an eight-game lead over the National league field while Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics had to look back 11-12 games before they could see their closest rivals, the New York Yankees.

The Cubs have done little faltering in the last month or so and what few slips they have made have come when their nearest pennant rivals could not take advantage of them.

For example, the Cubs ran into Ben Cantwell when he was at his best Monday and dropped a 4-3 decision to Boston in 10 innings. But this slip meant nothing for both Pittsburgh and the New York Giants were beaten.

BRUINS GET 6 HITS
Cantwell held the Cubs to six hits, two of which helped the invaders to their third run in the sixth inning. Malone, Nix and Guy Bush all were subjected to a heavy battering but stood off the Braves until the tenth when Richmond beat out a bunt and scored from first when Blair threw late and wildly to catch him at the initial bag. Bush then was charged with his second defeat of the season against 16 victories.

Johnny Frederick's homer with Gilbert on base in the tenth gave Brooklyn another triumph over Pitts, 4-2. Cissie Dudley was yanked in the first half of the tenth when Paul Waner doubled to open the frame and Johnny Morrison retired the side without a score although a sacrifice and two passes filled the bases.

A double by Kelly, single by Pittenger and Horace Ford's home run in the eighth gave the Cincinnati Reds three runs and a 5-2 verdict over the Giants. Pete Donohue limited New York to five hits, one of them a homer by Chick Fullis.

St. Louis downed Philadelphia, 7-5, in a free hitting game at Baker bowl.

MACKS STRETCH LEAD
In the American league, the A's stretched their lead a full game by beating Detroit 6-0 while the Yankees were losing at Cleveland. Rube Wagners gave up only five hits against the Tigers while the A's bunched eight hits off George Uhlir with a winning margin. Al Simmons hit his twenty-seventh homer of the season.

Babe Ruth's thirty-first homer couldn't save the Yankees from an 11-7 trouncing by the Indians. Ruth's round trip blow with two on in the third couldn't offset weak pitching by Phipps, Pennock and Sherid.

Red Shoffner ended the Indian box in time to get credit for the victory and gave Cleveland fans something to cheer about by fanning Ruth. Lazzeri and Meusel in the eighth.

Danny MacFayden was in form and the Boston Red Sox blanked Chicago 3 to 0. MacFayden yielded only three hits while Ted Lyons was beaten as early as the first inning when two walks, a triple by Rorick and a double steal gave Boston three runs.

Doubles by Judge and Rice in the ninth gave Washington a 3-2 triumph over St. Louis. Garland Rattron gave the Browns only five hits.

MINICK SIGNS TO PLAY WITH PACKERS

Former Iowa Grid Star Expected To Have Best Season With Big Blues

Green Bay—Paul Minick will again be with Lambeau and the Packers start their football practice three weeks from Sunday. The contract from the former Iowan all-western star arrived here Sunday from Los Angeles, where he has been employed with a picture producing concern since the first of the year. Since Paul has been out on the coast, he got married and Mrs. Minick will accompany him here.

Aside from Minick, other Packers who have signed on the dotted line are Al Bloodgood, Cal Hubbard, Claude Perry and Bo Molenda. At least three more "contracts" are expected this week and they will be announced as soon as received.

Paul is a smart line man and it didn't take him long to get climaxed here. About mid-season, he struck his proper gait and before the curtain was pulled down, gained the distinction of being the Packers' leading guard. Some of the older players put Minick on a plane with George Abramson, Frank Mayer and Moose Gardner, three of the best center flankers who have ever sported the gold and blue of Green Bay.

Minick follows the ball like a hawk. He seems to have a superb football sense, something like Cub Buck, and often would pull out of his position and nail a carrier in his tracks. Occasionally, the "enemy" would try to run "cut backs" through but nine times out of ten, he would be in there spilling the beans.

The former Iowan is a good team worker. He likes his football and was always regular as a clock at practice.

Officials of the football corporation expect Minick to be one of the outstanding stars of 1929.

The Charge of the Busting Babe

BY WERNER LAUFER

Half a mile, half a mile,
Half a mile onward,
Far o'er the garden wall
Sailed his fifth hundred.
Jogging around the bags,
Waving of hats and flags,
Out of the park, the Babe Crashed his fifth hundred.

Grandstand to right of him,
Grandstand to left of him,
Bleachers in front of him,
Volleyed and thundered.
Batters have lived before
Who made a baseball soar
How ill their feats compare
To Ruth's tremendous score, Homers, five hundred!

Others may briefly pace
Babe Ruth's gigantic mace
In ball-dom's homerun race
But they're pretenders all,
Weak laurels plundered.
Ne'er will Babe's glory fade
Wherever ball is played,
Only the king of all
Could sock five hundred.

Daughter Of Famous Net Star Shows Great Promise

NEW YORK—(AP)—Another budding star of the courts has arisen to carry on the Sutton-Bundy tradition of United States tennis.

Dorothy Bundy, 12-year-old daughter of the famous May Sutton Bundy, made her eastern debut in a senior tennis tournament at the eastern tennis club championships at Rye yesterday and acquitted herself well.

Her mother, as May Sutton, won the national singles title in 1904 and the British singles championship in 1905 and 1907. Her father, Tom C. Bundy, gained his chief tennis renown as a doubles partner of the California comet, Maurice E. McLoughlin. This pair held the national doubles title in 1912-13-14. Bundy was ranked No. 2 behind W. A. Larned in the 1910 national listings and was placed at No. 3 behind Larned and McLoughlin in the following year.

Waterloo, Ia.—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg successfully defended his world's heavyweight wrestling championship here last night by defeating Stanley Pinta, Toronto, Canada, in straight falls.

Sonnenberg won the first fall in 31 minutes with a flying tackle. A bar arm lock after four and a half more minutes of wrestling ended the match.

In the preliminaries, Ralph Parcutt, Newton, Ia., Grappler, won a referee's decision from Billy Schobor, of St. Paul, Mike Howard, University of Iowa mat coach, wrestled a no decision match with Bruce Nolan, of Newton.

Beat Little Chute 12-7; Drop 7-4 Decision to Stephany Club

The Konz baseball team broke even in a double header Sunday at Wilson school grounds, beating Little Chute 12 to 7 and dropping the second game 7 to 4 to the Stephany Club of Two Rivers.

King tossed for the Konz team in the first game and was touched for 12 safeties while the local team gathered 14 hits off the offerings of Willenberg and Vandenhoeve of Little Chute. Appleton practically clinched the game in the first inning when 7 hits and a walk netted them 8 runs. The Lumbermen got one run in second and third inning and two in the ninth. M. King was the batting star for the Konz team with four hits. He was followed closely by Malueg who had three bingles.

The second game was a tighter contest neither team scoring until the fourth inning when Two Rivers chased home two runs on three hits and an error. W. Murphy worked on the mound until the fifth when he was relieved by Laabs. During the time Murphy worked he allowed four runs on six hits, while Laabs allowed four hits and three runs.

Kronger pitched for Two Rivers and was touched for only seven blows. L. Bedford of the local team found Kronger's offerings much to his liking getting a double and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Loughran Will Get Chance To Prove Class Sept. 26

BY JOHN J. ROMANO
Copyright 1929
NEW YORK—Persuance in his stand that he is the equal of any of the current run of heavyweights won out for Tommy Loughran and the king of the light heavies is to get his chance against Jack Sharkey at the Tanke Stadium on the evening of Sept. 26.

Dumping Max Schmeling as Jack Sharkey's opponent on the September date was a smart and popular move by Bill Carey of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. Carey's ultimatum to the Schmeling forces shows that he means business and at the same time has Schmeling available to fight the winner of the Loughran-Sharkey set to at Miami next spring.

Schmeling's stubbornness has made it possible for Loughran to get the opportunity he has long sought. Tommy has insisted right along that he could manhandle Jack Sharkey if he ever got the latter in the ring with him and unless something comes up to shelve the meeting the Philadelphia will have fifteen rounds in which to prove up on his claims.

Some fans have an idea Schmeling is out in the cold for all time. While Max has lost the opportunity to pocket about one hundred thousand dollars smart critics voice the opinion that the temporary setback is a blessing in disguise. If Schmeling's managers are wise they will

Butte Des Morts Golfers Win In Match From Bays

Frank Walsh Scores 70 for 18 Holes And Beats Harley Denny

BUTTE DES MORTS golfers won another match contest with golfers from a neighboring city when they defeated members of the Oneida Golf and Riding club team, Saturday at Butte des Morts, 55 and 32. Thirty-six two men teams played.

Harley O. Denny, professional of the Green Bay club, turned in the best score of any of the Oneida golfers, getting a 73. Denny was defeated 2 to 1 by Frank Walsh, Butte Des Morts "pro" who scored a 70 for the 18-holes. Denny's showing was gratifying to the Green Bay contingent for they regard Walsh as one of the best golfers in the country and though that the Appleton "pro" was sure to win three points for his club.

DICKINSON SHOOT 73
W. F. Kerwin, Green Bay, and "Ken" Dickinson, Appleton, former state champion, finished all square in their match, each getting one point. Dickinson had 73 for his round and Kerwin 74. This match was close throughout and honors see-sawed back and forth.

A. C. Witteborg of the Oneida club, had 83 and his opponent, H. Pelkey, Butte des Morts, scored 80. Pelkey won the first nine, they halved the second and Pelkey had medal score, giving him 2 points.

Proceeding the match the Green Bay golfers were guests of the Butte des Morts members at luncheon.

Chicago—(AP)—Joey Medill, Chicago lightweight, and Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean slugger, will clash in the fourth 10-round bout on Paddy Harmon's all-star show in the Chicago stadium, Aug. 23.

Medill and Loayza, who fought a great battle in New York recently, in which the former received the decision, were signed yesterday. The other three 10-rounders will bring together Rene Devos, Belgian middleweight contender, and Johnny Burns, California Italian; Eddie Shea and Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight rivals; and My Sullivan, St. Paul welter, and Roxie Allen, sturdy Boston puncher.

Loughran Will Get Chance To Prove Class Sept. 26

BY JOHN J. ROMANO
Copyright 1929
NEW YORK—Persuance in his stand that he is the equal of any of the current run of heavyweights won out for Tommy Loughran and the king of the light heavies is to get his chance against Jack Sharkey at the Tanke Stadium on the evening of Sept. 26.

Dumping Max Schmeling as Jack Sharkey's opponent on the September date was a smart and popular move by Bill Carey of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. Carey's ultimatum to the Schmeling forces shows that he means business and at the same time has Schmeling available to fight the winner of the Loughran-Sharkey set to at Miami next spring.

Schmeling's stubbornness has made it possible for Loughran to get the opportunity he has long sought. Tommy has insisted right along that he could manhandle Jack Sharkey if he ever got the latter in the ring with him and unless something comes up to shelve the meeting the Philadelphia will have fifteen rounds in which to prove up on his claims.

Some fans have an idea Schmeling is out in the cold for all time. While Max has lost the opportunity to pocket about one hundred thousand dollars smart critics voice the opinion that the temporary setback is a blessing in disguise. If Schmeling's managers are wise they will

Cubs Want Dazzy Vance To Get A New Shirt

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1929
NEW YORK—The Athletics are much stronger baseball players on this date than the Yankees in 1928. That is the most convincing argument in their favor at the moment although, there are some other convincers and silencers for the New York crowd who persist in believing the Philadelphia team will crack. It has not shown any indication of it. Teams do crack some time but it is almost always because of combination of circumstances that takes away their best players for the moment.

The Chicago Nationals are playing a stronger game than St. Louis played last year on this date. That isn't positive proof, nor any other kind for that matter, that Chicago will win a pennant, but it looks good. The Cubs have not won more games than St. Louis had won last year but they have lost fewer. It is

The refusal of the Chicago team to back up after a good start is worrying some of those who were sanguine that New York, or St. Louis, possibly even Pittsburgh, would win. The Cubs are growing slightly in strength because their pitchers are working better if this keeps on to the finish Chicago may climb up to 100 victories.

The Chicago team is objecting to the shirt worn by Dazzy Vance. They complain that one sleeve is cut off so that every time that Vance waves his arm around his head the threads of the sleeve wave in the breeze and distract the attention of the batter.

That is an old college trick. College pitchers who have been successful also have owned a shirt with the pitching arm bitter of leaving a real fence edge to it. The latter centers his eyes on the hand of the pitcher and around that hand there is a revolving nebula. It takes good eyes to see the head of the comet leave the center and dart toward home plate.

There is no doubt that this kind of a shirt sleeve, torn to order, does make nervous batters uneasy and fidgety and major league baseball should rule it out. In addition to that, a major league pitcher has no business to walk on the field with any part of his uniform neglected. There has been too much laxity, by the umpires about that sort of thing. The rules say uniforms must be identical.

AL SINGER TO MEET FRENCH BOXER TONIGHT
New York—(AP)—Al Singer, Bronx junior lightweight, takes on Gaston Charles of France in a ten-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium tonight in what apparently amounts to a tune-up match for Singer before his battle with Kid Chocolate at the Polo Grounds Aug. 29.

Charles is a rugged customer but he does not rate in Singer's class. Singer, who recently knocked out Harry Ebbets, of Freeport, engages Nick Palmer, national guard champion, rates a 3 to 1 choice over Charles.

Middleweights will furnish the excitement in the preliminary bouts Harry Ebbets, of Freeport, engages Nick Palmer, national guard champion, in the semi-final and Ben Jely meets Alf Ross of Spain in the first ten.

JESS SWEETSER OFF FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR
New York—(AP)—Jess Sweetser is first of the metropolitan golf stars to head for the west and the national amateur championship at Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 2-7. KANSAS CITY COPS FOURTH STRAIGHT FROM TOLEDO HENS

Brewers Get 20 Hits but Go Ten Innings to Beat Senators, 10-8

BY WILLIAM A. WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—With St. Paul showing signs of collapse and their own affairs in the best condition of the season, the Kansas City Blues promise to return home late this month for their series with Minneapolis and the Saints, with a safe lead in the American association.

After finishing up their last home stand in wobbly fashion against Columbus and encountering considerable trouble from the Senators on the latter's ground, Dutch Zwilling's club has managed to accumulate a lead of eight and one-half games, the best margin it has owned this season.

The Saints were pressing Kansas City when the Blues left home, but recently have slumped. The Blues took four straight from Toledo, but St. Paul could take but one game out of four from Indianapolis.

The Blues made it four straight over the Mud Hens yesterday, winning by 6 to 5 when Ernie Wingard weakened in the eighth and was rapped for four runs. Tom Sheehan had two bad innings, but finished for his sixteenth victory of the season.

The Salts lost to Fred Schupp's superior pitching. The veteran southpaw gave St. Paul but seven hits, including a home run by Ben Chapman, while the Indians were collecting eight blows, bunched in two innings, off Huck Betts, for a 3 to 2 victory.

Louisville outthit Minneapolis, but the Millers clustered their safeties off Malcolm Moss in the early innings for a 6 to 4 decision.

Milwaukee raked three Columbus pitchers for 20 hits of all dimensions, but was forced to go 11 innings to gain a 10 to 8 decision. Eddie Pick's single in the ninth drove in the tying run and his homer in the eleventh accounted for the winning tally.

Batteries for Petties were Nate Belting and Stoecker, for Hamiltons, Wolfraht and Miller.

MAORIS INCREASE AS THEY BECOME CIVILIZED RACE

Intermarriage of Races Often Takes Place in New Zealand

Wellington, New Zealand —(AP)—The native Maori race of New Zealand, unlike North American Indian tribes, is increasing steadily in numbers. Including 1,350 half-castes, they now number approximately 64,000, compared with 53,000 in 1916 and 50,300 in 1906, according to government statistical returns.

The manner in which the Maoris are advancing themselves to European civilization is remarkable. Four Maoris are members of Parliament. There have been Maori ministers of the Crown, and several knightships have been conferred on them. They have produced medical practitioners and lawyers. Many of their chiefs possess oratory of a high order.

SUBJECT TO T. I.
But, like all Polynesians, they are subject to tuberculosis. So it is considered fortunate that the young men are taking more kindly to farming, motor-driving and outdoor occupations than do office work.

Perhaps one of the most striking instances of a fairly satisfactory solution of the half-caste problem is to be found in New Zealand, where the fusion of Maori and New Zealanders is proceeding. There is no color feeling. Intermarriage takes place in all classes as an accepted and moral condition.

HALF CASTES EFFICIENT
Sir James Barrett, one of Australia's eminent medical men, says New Zealand's greatest contribution to civilization is the fact that she has shown that half-castes can be just as efficient in ability and character as a pure race and that the result depends on the quality of the mixing races and on the just and proper treatment of the offspring.

"The New Zealand experiment of fusing some 60 nationalities," he remarks.

CUSTOMS BUREAU AND POSTAL DEPT. ACTING AS CENSORS

Two Groups Were Very Active During Past Year To Stop "Immoral" Flow

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Either the world is getting naughtier or Uncle Sam is getting much more particular.

Or, again, possibly the postoffice department and the customs bureau are merely vying in friendly rivalry to see which can censor the most literary material and get away with it.

At any rate, these two departments have been extraordinarily active within the last year in their efforts to keep out of the country anything which might conceivably affect the morals of adolescents but also that which might put political or economic ideas in our heads.

In the latter type of censorship, the Postoffice Department is able to get a large edge on its rival. For the postal laws, with a little stretching of the imagination, allow it to bar from the mails books, pamphlets or envelopes which are regarded as disrespectful to constituted authority.

The customs laws, however, merely bar from the country printed matter which customs officials may decide to be obscene.

Of course many university professors and several senators, most recently Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, have protested against any extension of the customs censorship powers, but the customs boys on the wharves will doubtless ask how any one expects them to tie the postoffice censorship score while working under such terrible handicaps.

Nevertheless, a very short summary herewith will show that the customs service has been holding up its end and that these two arms of government between them have lately broken all previous records for banning books and whatnot

PROF DEFENDS BRITISH VIEW ON WAR DEBTS

Minnesotan Says Snowden Justified in His Stand at Hague Parley

Williamstown, Mass.—(AP)—Further defense of Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden's demand for a larger British share of German reparations that that allotted in the Young plan was made by Prof. Herbert Heaton, economist at the University of Minnesota and a native of England, before members of the institute of politics today.

Snowden was justified in his objections to the distribution of the Spa percentage and the distribution of unconditional German payments, Professor Heaton declared. In his demand for the abolition of payment in kind, how she had already paid America; the sums still owing were provided for in the Young report.

"Snowden's demand for the restoration of the Spa percentage involved an additional payment to Great Britain of about $12,000,000 a year, he said.

"In making this demand Snowden merely wished to get the money which would recoup England for the sums which she had already paid America; the sums still owing were provided for in the Young report.

Mr. Snowden's demand for a larger share of the unconditional annuities also seem justifiable. If it should happen that Germany was unable to pay her annuities in full in any year, surely all the creditors should suffer equally in that event. If, on the other hand, Germany should prove to be able to pay regularly and in full, France would lose nothing by admitting England's right to a larger share of the unconditional payments.

"In his demand for the abolition of payment in kind Mr. Snowden was on less firm ground. He wished to see these payments in goods reduced or abolished because he felt that such goods cut into the English export market; but the effect of these goods was exaggerated and, in any case, Germany would have to pay her annuities either directly in goods or indirectly by credits.

"Britain's criticism was not directed against the two really important contributions of the Young committee, which were the fixing of the total payment and the design of machinery for payment. There was no quarrel with the allies or with Germany on either of these points.

Dean P. E. Corbett, dean of the law faculty of McGill university discussing the proposed St. Lawrence waterway, reviewed the negotiations between the American and Canadian government on the project.

"The Canadian government in its correspondence with the American government has suggested that, if the scheme is proceeded with, the national section of the St. Lawrence should be developed first and the international section should not be developed until Canada has had time to develop the new power produced in the national section," he said.

"A matter which has caused Canada to hold back in the negotiations is the uncertainty regarding the respective powers and rights of the federal and provincial governments in regard to waters."

Another factor which had delayed negotiations somewhat, he said, was the Canadian government's reluctance to commit the country to heavy expenditures before it had fully recovered from the cost of the World war.

MARINES RETURN FROM ALIEN AREAS

Half Enlisted Strength of Corps Home First Time in Over Two Years

Washington—(AP)—For the first time in more than two years, half the enlisted strength of the marine corps is in the continental limits of the United States, or homeward bound from duty in foreign lands.

Disturbances in China, Nicaragua and other lands have kept more than two-thirds of the enlisted personnel of 18,000 in distant lands for a long time to fight bandits and otherwise protect American interests. Quieter conditions have come to prevail, however, and the forces abroad have been gradually reduced in recent months, but Secretary Adams does not expect any large additional withdrawals in the near future.

Of the 1,500 recently ordered withdrawn from Nicaragua by President Hoover, 800 are due to arrive aboard the transport Henderson at the marine base, Quantico, Va., Sept. 2. The remaining 400 are to be taken to the Pacific coast by the Henderson on her return to China with 500 replacements authorized to relieve men there whose enlistments have expired.

A year ago there were more than 6,000 marines and billeted in Nicaragua. The recent withdrawals will leave 1,400 officers and men, an aviation detail of 200, and men with the Guardia nationale.

During the revolution in China, nearly 5,000 marines were on duty, but the fourth regiment has been reduced to 1,300, while the legion guard at Peking remains at 470.

NO MORE FUSSING WITH FUSE PLUGS FOR A HOUSEWIFE

Pushing Little Rod Restores Lights Which Are Short-circuited

New York—(AP)—Announcement of a new device whereby a housewife whose electric lights have short-circuited and gone out, may restore them simply by pushing a little rod instead of putting in new fuse plugs, was made today before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The home device comes as a by-product of a discovery that takes the danger out of breaks in commercial power-circuit.

This discovery removes risk of the flash of fire that accompanies breaking an electric circuit. In homes this flash is absorbed by the melting of a metal strip in the fuse plug.

The new device requires merely the pushing of a rod much like an ordinary light switch to restore the broken circuit.

The invention is by Dr. Joseph Slepian of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, who read papers on the subject at the institute. The trouble in super-power has been that when an electric circuit is shut off, the electricity tries to keep right on going through the air, becoming a source of danger. For years oil has been used to "quench" the end of a broken circuit, but oil, being a fuel, tended to ignite.

Dr. Slepian's device is made of round copper plates that do two important things with the current. First they split it into many small currents, and second they speed it up. The paper says the speed is 2400 miles per second.

Each of the small currents whirls around and around the copper plate 30 to 40 times, and by that time it is exhausted—"snuffed out." The temperature of this expiring arc of electrical current, Dr. Slepian said, is about 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, which is approximately half the estimated temperature of the surface of the sun.

The speed of these hot arcs not only keeps them from melting the plates, but, says the paper, it even prevents scorching of a cotton thread held in the path of the electricity.

The apparatus is based on the action of ions, which, flowing in a stream, are essentially the things that compose an electrical arc. By old processes these ions added more to themselves when a circuit was broken and caused heat and flashes. But by speeding them up, the reverse takes place, and the copper absorbs ions until there is no more current.

The speed of the circling current churls the air so much that special vents are made to let it escape; otherwise it overheats.

The rare birds to be found there, named in the order of their importance, are the reddish egret, Louisiana heron, black crowned night heron, snowy egret, American egret and Ward's heron.

Mr. Hadley said that the islands near the valley coast constitute ideal feeding grounds for these birds. This is his first visit to the islands, which have been leased by the association from the state of Texas for 50 years in order to provide protection for the rare birds.

MANY NEW FOREST BLAZES REPORTED OVER WIDE REGION

Old Flames Also Fanned into New Activity—Beyond Control in Places

Spokane, Wash.—(AP)—Menacing conditions caused by high winds and low humidity today aided old and slumbering forest fires to flame into renewed activity. Many new blazes also were reported throughout the northwest.

In Canada, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, conflagrations were eating rapidly through thousands of acres of forest land, causing losses which may run into millions of dollars. Rangers were unable to predict when the thousands of men fighting the fires could get them under control.

Eight hundred men, including 300 Doukhobors from Grand Forks, B. C., were working desperately to quell the Dollar mountain blaze in north central Washington. This conflagration, roaring through yellow pine timber, had leveled nearly 12,000 acres.

Other fires in that region, some of which had been reported to be under control, flamed with renewed vigor. The obstinate Chelan forest fire had covered a thousand acres more, bringing the total to 12,000.

FIRE BEYOND CONTROL
In Idaho, Oregon, Montana, and Canada forestry officials reported major fires beyond control, with little relief in prospect from the rain. Rain was said to be the only means by which the flames could be quenched. In Manitoba, Canada, provincial forestry officials reported the most serious fire conditions in many years. A last minute shift in the wind saved the town of DuBois which for a time was thought to be doomed. The town of Rennie was reported to be out of danger from a huge fire in that district.

The Bald mountain and Old Man creek fires in the Selway forest of Idaho still held fighters at Bay. They had covered 3,500 acres. The fire in the Salmon river country of the same state still was out of control after having burned over an area of unknown size. It was certain, however, that upwards of 5,000 acres had been destroyed. Several farm buildings and wheat fields were consumed near Greer, Idaho.

Walworth—(AP)—Two women were killed in auto accidents a few miles south of here Monday. They were Mrs. J. S. Swanson of La Grange, Ill., and Miss Christine Smilde of Chicago.

MARKET IS TRUE TO FORM IN RECOVERING AFTER BAD BREAK

New Highs Are Made In Stocks Which Were Largest Losers Last Week

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press

New York—The stock market is running true to form in showing, once more, remarkable vitality after what looked on Friday like another knockout blow.

New high records were hung up today in stocks that were among the largest losers last week, with the market repeating the performances of December, March and May in its abrupt turnaround and the sudden change in Wall Street's mood from apprehension to confidence.

The markets this year have been like the weather, experiencing a series of violent but brief storms which have rocked the financial districts of the country but have brought no relief to the over extended credit situation. Oldest brokers on the New York stock exchange have never before witnessed such conditions in other years, breaks in stocks of the proportions that have become familiar to the public in the past nine months, have almost been followed by a prolonged period of declining prices and dull and sluggish markets.

DECLINE RESPONDS

The December decline was the first sharp response to the cumulative effect of the high call money rates at the end of the month. The market was at a new high level. The March decline followed the threats of the federal reserve board against Wall Street. It also was violent but brief. Toward the end of May an over extended bull position in the industrial and public utilities and another period of high call money rates brought about a temporary collapse. This was immediately followed by an abrupt forward movement which quickly wiped out the major losses.

Friday's break was less general than on the other three occasions though the average decline in the industrial list was among the largest ever recorded due to the heavy shrinkage in a limited number of high priced issues. This has already been more than half recovered and today there were a number of new high records in the stocks that were leading the market when it went "state" on Friday.

The explanation of all these sudden and pronounced recoveries after serious declines is that the amount of buying power is greater today than ever before and that in spite of the high level at which individual stocks and individual groups of stocks are setting there is an army of investors and speculators always ready to jump in and buy common shares whenever they show pronounced weakness. Instead of being crippled when the market breaks badly the public seems to come forward with more money than ever and places it on the Wall Street bargain counter.

WEEKS OUT INTERIORS

One of the main declines is that it weeds out a great many inferior stocks from the trading arena. Few of these have been able to recover after once receiving a body blow. There are some hundreds of them that are now selling at or near the lowest prices not only of 1929 but for the past twelve months. Wall Street is constantly winnowing the chaff from the market and concentrating on the big stocks representing industries that are making steady progress and whose securities, it believes, will continue to advance regardless of what other stocks may do or what may be the immediate future of the money market.

So long as the business of the country is maintained at its present pace, Wall Street and its clientele will resist the efforts to force it out of the standard industrial, public utility and railroad shares whose earnings and prospects it has been analyzing for months.

One strong feature of the situation is that in the various declines most of the weak speculative situations have been eliminated. None of very serious character cropped up in the general break in price last Friday, which is in contrast with what happened earlier in the year.

SEEK TO ELIMINATE WATER LINE THUMPING

Madison—(P)—The drumming thump of water that comes sometimes when hydrants are opened or shut off to a certain point may be eliminated from computations of a machine on which two University of Wisconsin hydraulic engineers are working.

These miniature artillery bombardments in water lines are not only aggravating to human nerves, but may cause severe damage to the lines, pipe joints, or pumping machinery in connection.

In addition to seeking a cure for water-hammer, the device may also be useful in locating leaks in underground pipes.

The two men, who have developed an experimental model now being used to some extent by one of the railroads, are Oscar E. Romare, mechanical engineer, and L. H. Kessler, assistant professor of hydraulic engineering at the university.

Mr. Kessler began the work some time ago, after being urged to do so by officials of various railroads in the state.

NEED MORE PASTURES TO KEEP FARMS FERTILE

Madison—"Too large a percentage of Mississippi valley farms are under cultivation and too few are under grass land management," states George B. Mortimer, agronomist at the University of Wisconsin.

"Annually a large penalty is being paid in crop losses on much of this land, and future generations will pay for it a tremendously damaging effect of soil erosion and fertility losses," he emphasizes.

"Land in grass" should be a plank in any soil conservation program, maintains the agronomist. Hillsides and much of the bottom lands ought to be in permanent grass to stop the wastes due to erosion and crop losses through flooding.

Good pasture is the cheapest crop grown on the dairy farm. As an example of the value of permanent pasture, Mortimer tells about one of the experimental fields at the Wisconsin experiment station where five two year old dairy heifers have been pastured day and night on three acres, and he says, it looks as though the plot will carry the cattle through the entire season.

METAL CLOTHS ARE POPULAR THIS FALL

New Lames Are Light As Possible And Are Adapted To Silhouette

BY AILEEN LAMONT
(Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)

New York—Metal cloths will hold a place of decided importance in the fields of afternoon and evening dress this autumn but the woman wearing one will no longer look like she had garnered the material from a portlier or an upholstered chair. The new lames are as light and soft as possible. The metal chifons, which have no luster, adapt themselves admirably to the new silhouette. The stuff is so sheer that it removes the look of heaviness so common in the older metal fabrics.

The velvets cannot by any means be relegated to a back seat. They have invaded the field of sport and velvet sport dresses seem likely to be seen at many a gridiron contest this fall. Panna velvets are used for this purpose and the printed velvets on georgette backgrounds are seen in the evenings. Velvets also are being chosen for no small part of the boudoir robes and lounging pajamas which will be worn next winter.

FRAMED

There is no move to return to the old "picture hat" of the 1920's but none the less, the smart hat of today must frame the face. No more are conspirator brims, which hide the eyes, fashionable. If there is a front brim at all, it turns up over the forehead although it may turn down again at sides and back. The crowns are somewhat lower and shallower than they have been.

Severe lines of the autumn colored suits have not been abandoned but the severity has been lightened with fur trimming. The short coats frequently have a hip band of fox fur of the same type as the fox scarf which goes about the wearer's shoulders. The line of this hip band is higher in front and lower in the back.

FLAREUP IN EQUITY RANKS QUIETS DOWN IN HOLLYWOOD CASE

Actors' Association Trying to Compromise With Producers' Group

Los Angeles—(AP)—Internal troubles of the Actors' Equity association apparently quieted down today, after a flareup which involved its President Frank Gilmore, and vice president, Ethel Barrymore, over the organization's fight with Hollywood motion picture producers for closed shop in the industry.

Miss Barrymore, noted actress, in a statement in San Francisco late last night, declared she wished no controversy and "would not say another word."

This came after Gilmore, had answered her charges of the night before that he sponsored a "solution which was no solution" to the situation with the producers. Gilmore earlier in the evening said that Miss Barrymore in criticizing him had left a "regrettable and definitely erroneous impression."

Miss Barrymore Sunday night criticized Gilmore for his action at a closed meeting of equity at which he asked and received the support of the organization to a program, calling for the employment of equity actors for 80 per cent of each cast.

Miss Barrymore declared that this plan had been submitted to the producers at a series of secret sessions by the equity committee of which she and Gilmore were members, and that the producers had refused to consider it.

TRY TO COMPROMISE

Efforts at a compromise with the producers continued with the forwarding of a letter to them containing official information of the stand taken by 3,000 members of equity Saturday night in signifying its willingness to be content with 80 per cent equity casts.

Trial of a test suit by equity against Warner Brothers, Inc., asking $1,000,000 damages for contracting Tully Marshall, actor in alleged violation of his equity membership, has been continued for two weeks.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

CHAPTER 11
A FEMININE RUSE

MEANWHILE Helen, standing before the largest mirror in her bed-chamber, stared at the reflection of her loveliness with troubled eyes, vexed, surprised, wondering.

And after some while while her lady descended the stair, the folds of her riding-habit over her arm, and so to the stables, there to wait impatiently what time old Ben and one of the grooms saddled The Witch, her powerful, glossy-coated mare. Then, slim, booted foot in old Ben's hand, up she sprang to the saddle, gathered up the reins, settled herself lightly. But scarcely were they beyond the village than was a clatter of pursuing hoofs, and my lady found Captain Despard beside her, Helen frowned, the captain bowed.

"Helen..." said he gently. "Helen, I love thee!"

"And so 'tis I wish you good-bye, sir!"

Captain Despard smiled. "And yet, Helen, I dare venture to think you will be my wife sooner or later."

My lady rarely glanced at him and wheeled her mare, but out shot the captain's long arm and he grasped her rein, then, down whizzed my lady's ring-switch. Captain Despard, losing the rein, glanced at the red welt on his wrist to where my lady galloped her mare 50 yards away.

Helen leapt her mare through the gap in ruined park wall and cantered lightly over undulating greenward until she espied a man, busily engaged with a pair of shears trimming a woefully shaggy hedge; but even at this distance she knew him, wherefore my lady checked her steed and tossing off her plumed hat, she shook down her abundant hair spured the Witch sharply, which reared, plunged and set off in sudden, wild career.

Sir Richard dropped his shears, and small wonder... then again came that cry:

"Stop—oh, stop her!"

Sir Richard poised himself for sudden and desperate action... On came the swift, tramping hoofs near—nearer yet—but now, seeing the perfect poise and balance of her lithe figure, despite her so agonized appeal, his eyes twinkled, his firm lips curved to sudden smile; then, he sprang and caught the bride.

A sudden wrench... the mare and was away—riderless, for my lady lay swooning in Sir Richard's arms—that is to say, her eyes were fast shut, and her supple body lay very soft in his embrace and unusually limp.

Thus stood he gazing down into the face pillowed on his shoulder, studying it feature by feature—how utterly serene, never the quiver of an eyelash!

So Sir Richard bowed his head and kissed her, and he did it with a singular deliberation: he kissed her hair, one eye, and her mouth and, finding her yet a-swoon, he kissed her mouth, one eye, and her hair and indeed, was in the act of doing this for the third time when she looked at him and frowned.

She: Where am I? Sir, I believe you kissed me.

He: I'm sure of it.

She: Sir, was wholly detestable act.

He: Ma'm, 'twas the blissful aberration of a happy moment.

She: And I a-swoon! Oh, shame, sir!

He: but a-swoon so gracefully apt! Here my lady had the grace to change color.

She: How, sir? how? D'y'e take me for one to be lightly kissed—a thing so shameless, a creature so light? Set me down this very moment!

So, with the extremest of cautions, he set her feet to earth, bowed and stood back while she ordered her attire with deft, feminine touches.

"What is yonder, sir?" she asked nodding towards the hedge he had been trimming.

"Come and see—if you will?" he answered, a little diffidently. "Your mare seems quiet enough, remarkably so."

"Nay, 'tis deceitful creature, pray secure her, sir, whiles I seek my hat."

Sir Richard brought her into what had once been a fair garden but now a place of weedy desolation.

"Oh, what a wilderness!" exclaimed Helen.

"Wilderness indeed!" he answered. "And yet 'twas my mother's garden once on a time."

"Why then," said Helen softly, "surely it is a very holy place. Then here, Sir Richard, here in this halcyon garden, I will confess I did trust you."

Sir Richard bowed.

"And I trusted you because, since you are too infinite proud to visit us, I became so infinite humble as to seek you thus. And, wherefore, do you suppose?"

Sir Richard shook his head.

"Because I, Helen O'Arcy, having misjudged one, Sir Richard Gufford, would now very humbly crave Sir Richard his pardon. . . . Forgive me if you will." And she reached out her hand.

So Sir Richard lifted her hand, kissed it, and, letting it fall, stared hard at the shears again.

"Madam," said he, a little unevenly, "I am infinite grateful."

"And you forgive me? Then give me some token for proof of our friendship."

"Willingly: what wouldst have?"

She laughed. "There—you shall give me your ring."

"'Tis battered thing!" he answered. "It was my father's."

"Nay, then keep it."

"No, no," he answered. Now seeing she would not accept it, he took her hand and tried the ring on each finger, but finding them all too slender, "For the present it must lie there," and she dropped it into her purse.

"What will you have in exchange?"

"What little cat's-eye ring you are wearing."

"I will give you this!" said she, and reaching to white neck drew thence a small gold chain whereon was a locket. "I have worn it since I was a child—stoop your head, sir!" So he obeyed and she hung the cross about his sun-burnt throat. "Henceforth we are friends pledged."

A budding romance meets an obstacle in tomorrow's chapter.

AMERICAN'S ROMANCE IS JAP OPERA THEME

Tokyo—(AP)—A Japanese American opera, woven around the romance of Townsend Harris, first American minister to Japan, and Oichichi, a pretty girl of Shimoda, where the first legation was established, is promised the musical world by the end of this year. The composer is Fosca Yamada and the librettist Percy Noel, an American newspaper man.

The new opera will be called "Oki-chi" and will be the first full length work of this sort by a Japanese musician. The libretto is in English and runs through five acts, with the scene as the Shimoda of seventy years ago, a beautiful seaside town on the Izu peninsula.

The authors hope to make the atmosphere of the work vivid of old Japan. They are trying particularly to achieve fidelity to historical facts.

ENGINEERS SAY 2 BROADCASTERS CAN'T USE SAME CHANNEL

Hope For More Room For Stations Is Given Severe Jolt By Expert

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
Washington—Synchronization of multiple operation of stations on the same broadcast channel, held out as broadcasting's only hope for more elbow room in the spectrum, is handed another severe jolt by one of the leading radio engineers of the country—Professor C. M. Jansky, Jr.

From the very beginning engineers have held that it is impossible to place more than one high powered station on the same channel without distorting reception. But the federal radio commission, notwithstanding engineering advice, has ordered two stations in the south to attempt simultaneous operation to ascertain definitely whether synchronization is practicable, so that many more stations may be placed on the air and the present cleared channel, reserved exclusively for high powered stations thrown into the discard. These two stations, Kvoe, at Tulsa, and Wapi at Birmingham, have not been very successful in their experiments, which have been in progress about a month.

Professor Jansky, in a report to the commission relates the results of secret tests he has been conducting between stations Wapi at Milwaukee and Wjag at Cleveland, which he says, prove conclusively the engineering theory that synchronization is impracticable.

The report was like a bolt of a serenely blue sky. The commission had no intimation that the tests were being conducted and as a matter of fact, nor did Wjag, which operates during daylight on the 620 kilocycle channel assigned full time to Wapi.

MAKE SECRET TEST

Professor Jansky, along with D. W. Celler, chief engineer of Wapi, decided upon making the secret tests, primarily to prove to the commission that the Milwaukee station should have full and exclusive use of the channel during daylight as well as at night, and that the Cleveland station seriously curtailed Wapi's daylight service area. The Milwaukee station uses 2,500 watts during the day and 1,000 watts at night. Wjag uses 500 watts. The stations are separated by about 840 miles.

To determine that nature and extent of the interference resulting from the simultaneous operation of the two stations, the engineers make observations of receiving conditions of the channel throughout southeastern and southern Michigan, as well as in Illinois and Ohio. Two receiving sets which they carried with them were used during the tests, which continued from June 29 to July 3. Observations were made at approximately 40 locations. "These findings," said the report, "lead to the belief that synchronization of two stations is a much larger problem than hitherto realized and that it will call for methods elaborate and expensive."

Besides this conclusion the report brought out that an unexpected type of interference, termed "fluttering," was produced when the stations deviated but only eight to ten cycles from the assigned frequency. The present permissible deviation is 500 cycles. Thus, the extreme constancy of this operation may be gauged. This flutter interference according to the report, was even worse than cross talk that occurs when two high powered stations operate simultaneously without attempting to synchronize.

CLOSE TOGETHER

Professor Jansky said that he was surprised to find that Wjag held to Wapi's frequency so closely, wobbling only from eight to ten cycles. The great interference caused even with this almost synchronous operation tends all the more to prove the futility of synchronization and the urgent necessity for maintaining the cleared channel for high powered stations, he pointed out.

It had been anticipated, said Professor Jansky, that the principal sources of interference would be an audible heterodyne beat note caused by the simultaneous reception of the carrier frequencies from the two stations. However, he reported, this did not prove to be the case. The carrier frequencies were so nearly the same that the beat note was well below the audibility range.

"There existed in place of the audible beat note a type of interference best classified as a 'flutter.' It made satisfactory reception impossible."

SPECTACULAR FIREWORKS PLANNED FOR 1929 FAIR

Seymour—Spectacular fireworks are planned by officials of the Seymour Fair association for visitors at the annual fair at Seymour on Aug. 20, 21 and 22. One of the features of the protechnic display which will be presented on all three nights of the fair will be the presentation of the "Eruption of Mt. Etna." This is a huge set which will in miniature show how Mt. Etna looked in a recent eruption. A village at the foot of the mountain is destroyed by the flow of lava. This display will be shown on the second night of the fair. Many other novelties and new features will be presented in connection with the fine display of fireworks which is expected to attract a huge crowd.

able to reduce British taxation by the amount that Mr. Snowden is asking in the way of an increased payment from Germany.

The danger, it is recognized here, of opening up the Young plan is that this agreement was in itself a compromise and to modify it in one place means reviving discussions that troubled the experts last spring and almost brought failure.

DANGER IN DELAY

The most that it is thought here can be accomplished to meet the British viewpoint is to add a clause providing for a revision of the plan in ten years though this too is fraught with risks as it is not thought Germany would be as deferential a decade from now as she is today. If Germany builds up her economic position she will not be as interested in catering to the other powers.

The thought is not brooked for a moment here that the conference will fail, though there is beginning to be talk of a postponement until the leaves of international diplomacy can be set to work. Meanwhile banking interests from all countries are hard at work, laboring incessantly by personal persuasion to bring influence to bear on the envoys at the Hague. It means a great deal to the powerful banking groups from all countries to get an acceptance of the Young plan because all war loans will then be put on a stronger foundation and it is thought that the German reparations payments may be anticipated through the flotation of large bond issues. Everything of this kind would be held in abeyance if the British government failed to adhere to the Young plan.

U. S. STAYS ALOOF

Usually when Europe gets into a tangle there is an effort to bring the United States somehow into the picture but this is one case in which American intervention cannot be sought because America has steadfastly refused to be a party to any division of German reparations, as between the European powers.

American bankers, however, who realize the importance of selling American investors the new German reparations bonds are keenly aware of the value of American support for the Young plan and recognize that if it is repudied so that unanimity no longer prevails the seeds of friction will have been sown in such a way as to diminish materially much of the enthusiasm which the American public showed originally for the young plan.

Confidence prevails here that Great Britain will not risk her prestige and

Spring Bulbs Should Be Planted In September

BY DR. DAVID GRIFFITHS

(U. S. Department of Agriculture)

Plant spring flowering bulbs as early in September as you can buy them. While these bulbs can be put in as late as December and some of them up to January, with some satisfaction, much better results come from earlier planting.

Tulips, daffodils and hyacinths are what we refer to mostly as spring flowering bulbs. They should be ordered from the seedsmen right away and should be unpacked and planted as soon as delivered.

All of these bulbs are adapted to bedding and border decoration. The bulbs usually are set about 4 inches deep if the beds are to be taken up annually, but deeper planting is advisable if they are to remain a number of years.

Daffodils under nearly all circumstances can be left in permanently, but tulips and hyacinths are much better if lifted annually. The distance apart in the beds will depend on the size of the bulbs: not less than 4 inches, nor more than 6 inches each way, is necessary spacing.

One of the greatest difficulties encountered by the inexperienced grower is the selection of varieties. The lists are so long and the varieties so numerous, the task of selection is difficult. These features are improving, however.

The number of varieties is being reduced by growers and dealers in nearly all groups and the lists of today do not generally contain poor varieties. There is usually a short description which at least designates the color. The gardener can therefore easily obtain the color he desires. The actual variety often does not matter so much, for there may be a dozen reds in tulips that will give good satisfaction, or a score of yellow trumpet daffodils that will do well and satisfy all but the very critical.

The discriminating grower must know the varieties, but he who would not worry so much about this feature so long as he has the color he wants.

Talks To Parents

THE PARTY

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Helen had been invited by the most popular boy in high school to attend a very special dance at the country club, Helen was not 15.

The other girls, who were at least three of four years older, buzzed like angry hornets that a mere child should intrude on their very grown up affairs, and that, to deepen her offense, she should have captured the most desirable boy in town for her partner. Their mothers were almost as angry. They gossiped maliciously about a mother who couldn't wait to let her daughter start her social career was not disturbed. Serenely she gave her permission and began to plan with Helen a dress appropriate for so great an occasion. Together they sewed the dress. When it was finished, it was frothy and gay and charming as a first party dress should be. Helen slipped it on and looked happily at the reflection in the mirror.

"You look lovely, dear," said her mother. "And I know you are going to have a glorious time. I am letting you go to this party in spite of what everybody is saying. I am letting you go because I want you to be happy. You are mature for your age, and I am sure that I can trust your good taste to prove that I have not been mistaken."

"There is just one thing I am going to ask. It is that you leave at 12. The party probably will go on for an hour or two after that, but you must be home by 12:30. You are much younger than anyone else there, and it is only sensible that you should come home early and not miss too much of your sleep. You understand that, don't you?"

"All right, mother, I'll be home."

DUTY ON LEATHER, HIDES AND SHOES STILL BIG ISSUE

11 Committee Members Pressed for Time in Rewriting Tariff Measure

Washington—(AP)—The 11 members of the Senate Finance Committee who are rewriting the leather tariff bill were still confronted today with the problem of deciding on rates to protect hides, leather and shoes.

These commodities, now on the free list, are expected to prove a subject matter for a considerable controversy after the bill is placed before the senate in September, and the committee members wanted to get more information on the tariff viewpoint before making a final decision on what to recommend.

They are understood, however, to have agreed tentatively to recommend the 10 per cent impost on hides voted by the house and to employ that as a basis for their decisions with respect to leather and shoes. The leather bill calls for rates of 12 1/2 per cent to 30 per cent on leathers and 20 per cent on shoes, but the senators have indicated a disposition to raise some of the leather rates while reducing others and cutting down the proposed impost on shoes.

After disposing of these commodities, they will still be confronted with the even more controversial problem of sugar duties. Opposition to the house rate of 240 cents a pound on the raw sugar as compared with 175 cents in the present law is finding expression on both Republican and Democratic ranks and a long contest in the senate over this question is considered certain. Senator Duffell, Republican, Idaho, who doesn't like the house rate nor the sliding scale idea and has com-played an expert to work on the problem for him, has decided that "some other plan must be devised." His expert, who is devoting some attention to a government bounty plan for the benefit of American growers, has estimated that the house rate would add $443,000,000 a year to the price of sugar as compared with $293,000,000 by the 1.75 rate.

"Congress," he believes, "will never pass a bill imposing a burden of $443,000,000 on the consumer."

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Miss. says, in a statement commenting on the abandonment of the Smoot sliding scale proposal, placed the cost of the house rate to the consumer at $225,000,000.

U. S. STEEL STOCK LEADS ALL ISSUES IN UPWARD SWING

Bullish Demonstration Is Strong and Many Shares Reach New Highs

BY STANLEY W. PRENSOL, Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(AP)—Led by U. S. Steel common, which soared more than 10 points to another new high record at 239 7/8, the stock market shook off its early irregularity today and pressed forward to the accompaniment of a series of bullish demonstrations in the steel, public utility, investment railroad, electrical equipment and aviation shares. Laclede Gas, which broke 60 points and others were run up 1 to 10 points.

The spectacular rise in steel revived rumors of a stock split up and higher cash dividends but such actions are not generally expected until the end of the year. Members of the finance committee met this afternoon and the regular monthly meeting of directors will be held on Aug. 27, but the corporation officers report that "only routine business" is scheduled for consideration. Steel broke to 213 1/2 in late Friday's break. The floating supply in the hands of brokers at the end of July was about 25 per cent of the total shares outstanding.

Other steels followed in its wake. Bethlehem and Crucible moving up 4 1/4 and 3 points to new high records at 121 1/2 and 112 7/8, respectively. High current earnings, coupled with a continuation of unusually heavy summer output, have encouraged buying of this group.

The credit situation showed signs of easing today despite the bullish activity of the last three sessions. Call money renewed bullish activity of the last three sessions. Call money renewed unchanged at 8 per cent but was quoted at 7 per cent in the outside market in the early afternoon. An easier undertone also was apparent, but the Federal Reserve system already has placed substantial sums in the credit market by the purchase of bills at the reduced buying rate announced last week.

General Electric dropped 5 points in the early trading to 374 1/2 and then shot up to 387 3/8. Simmons Co. ran up 7 points to a new high at 125 and A. M. Byers, Frank G. Shattuck, Warren Bros., United Aircraft, Wright Aeronautical, American power & Light, Westinghouse electric, Montgomery Ward, American Machine & Foundry and Gillette Safety razor, sold 4 to 7 points higher, the last two reaching new high grounds.

Boston & Maine assumed the leadership of the rail group by soaring 10 points. Chesapeake & Ohio ran up 6 1/2, New York Central, 4 and several others 2 to 3 points.

The day's business news was mixed. The American Woolen Company reported a deficit of nearly $2,500,000 in the first six months as against a loss of $884,700 in the corresponding period of last year. Most of the other earnings reports were favorable. Private dispatches from Canada indicated a record breaking production of crude last week.

HOG PRICES ARE STEADY TO STRONG

Buoyancy Is Noted in Market for Light Weights; Heavier Classes Dull

Chicago—(AP)—Buoyancy was noted in the market for light hogs, but the heavier classes did not seem to attract sufficient attention at the start to participate in the firm movement to buyers' scales. Steady to strong prices prevailed and many lots passed the $12 mark. Lights were preferred and met with good support from eastern shippers who paid 12.10 to 12.15 for selected weights. Packers received 1,400 on direct billing and did little buying in the open market during the initial rounds of trading.

With grassy stock predominating in the cattle alleys, holders of high grade steers were able to hold prices on a firm basis. Prime offerings were salable at $16.50 to $17.00, but the rank and file of steers fell within the classifications that sell below $15.00. Calves were fairly plentiful, but the quality of vealers was good and firm prices were quoted.

Light action took place in the opening sheep market. Offerings ran largely to western lambs, most of them showing good weight and finish. Packers had 2,300 lambs consigned direct to their plants outside points, but there was a sufficiently broad potential demand to warrant a clearance of offerings at fully steady prices.

BIG WHEAT DEMAND FROM EUROPE CAUSES WHEAT PRICE JUMP

Profit-taking at Close Causes Reaction Which Wipes Out Some of Gains

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago—(AP)—Evidence of big European demand for wheat from North American brought about sharp upturns in wheat prices today, but heavy profit-taking caused a reaction. Renewal of adverse wheat crop advice both from Australia and Argentina was an outstanding feature. It was asserted that even with perfect weather from now on this season the three eastern provinces of Australia cannot raise more than half a normal crop.

With Liverpool wheat quotations today closing at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 pence advance, whereas declines there were looked for, signs of liberal overnight buying of domestic wheat for transatlantic shipment attracted particular notice among wheat traders here. In this connection, special stress was laid on dispatches from Buenos Aires saying that the provinces of Entre Rios, Cordoba, and Santa Fe, Argentina, had obtained no adequate moisture relief, and that in Cordoba especially wheat is suffering from drought.

Estimates were current that 2,000,000 bushels of North American wheat had been taken today for export, including Canadian wheat and wheat from the United States. Meanwhile, according to latest unofficial figures, world crops of wheat exclusive of Russia and China promise a decrease of 560,000,000 bushels from last year, with world import needs forecast as being far above possibilities under present general crop prospects.

CURB STOCKS AGAIN SWING TO NEW HIGHS

Movement Becomes Irregular at Midday With Huge Selling Orders

New York—(AP)—Curb exchange stocks today continued to work higher, but the advance lacked the vigor of the rally in the two preceding sessions. The movement became irregular at midday as the leaders were called upon to absorb considerable selling.

A handful of specialties were sent soaring into record high ground. The Nevada Electric issue broke through to new highs. Call money moved at 8 per cent, but the tone was easy with funds reported being loaned in the outside market at 7. Crocker Wheeler, Electric Stock, again spurred forward to a new high, leaving 74 points to 474. One Wall Street rumor has it that the stock is to be split up. The company has been benefitting from the increase in electrification of industry.

The utilities opened strong, but encountered persistent selling on the upswing and sold off around midday. Prices for the most part held above last night's closing. Nevada California Electric closed at a new high bid 92 1/2, up 2 1/2 points, and then dropped below 90. Electric investors started off strong above 277 and then dropped to below 270 for a net loss. Electric Bond & Share maintained most of its early gain. American Superpower sold lower for a time.

Insult Utility Investment continued strong, ranging from 11 1/4 to 11 1/2. Last night it closed at 110 1/2. Insurance Securities was pushed upward on announcement of its acquisition of New York Indemnity. Interstate Equity, Trading company formed by the Pan American Block Corporation interests, after holding fractionally above 20 for several days ran up to 22, while Tricontinental Corporation again broke through to a new high. National Investors approximated it high price above 190.

In the air group Dayton Airplane and Aero Supply "B" both reached new tops on small advances. Curtiss Wright issues were firm, while aviation corporation, which reported net profit of $787,757 from March '19, when it started business, to June 30, 1929, after 19. Air investors was strong on reported net income of $147,200 for the second quarter, compared to $188,900 in the first three months of the year. Net earnings for the six months are equal to 96 cents a share.

Dubilier Condenser and Radio, which ran up yesterday on announcement of a court victory over Radio Corporation of America, continued its advance, again establishing a new high above 11.

CHICAGO STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Some Recoveries Made but Confidence Not Yet Fully Restored

Chicago—(AP)—Irregular prices on the Chicago Stock Exchange today, with price fluctuations wider than normal, showed that despite returning confidence the market had not recovered from its recent shock. Utility shares were again active. Insult Utilities dropping about a point and a half from the previous price. Middle West had a fluctuation of around 2 points but held firm in the later part of the session. Commonwealth Edison had a steady downward trend. Associated Telephone, Central and Southwest, Utility and Industrial and Chicago Corporation were irregular, although all but the latter recovered near the close.

SHEBOYGAN WINS LEGION CONCLAVE

Gets Honor of Being 1930 Host of Department Over Chippewa Falls

Kenosha—(AP)—The 1930 state legion convention today was awarded to Sheboygan. That city won the honor over Chippewa Falls, the former winning approval by a vote of 114 to 175.

The convention today passed a resolution calling upon congress to acquire and restore Appomattox courthouse, Virginia, scene of Robert E. Lee's surrender and the last engagement of the Civil war.

The resolution was introduced by Col. Edward J. Barrett, Sheboygan who with a friend, H. C. Featherstone of Lynchburg, Va., conceived the idea. Through their efforts the Veterans of the Confederacy and the Wisconsin Legion have passed resolutions asking for appropriation from congress to restore the famous place.

The plan will go to the national encampment of the G. A. R. at Portland, Me., this fall and to the National American Legion convention at Louisville in September. McLean house, the hotel in which Lee surrendered, and Libby prison have been moved three miles south of their original site and it is the hope of the sponsors of the movement for restoration that the streets and commons be restored to their original condition, as well as the buildings.

The convention also adopted a resolution presented by the state Americanism committee recommending that a state-wide essay contest in Americanism be held this year and urging that foreign language newspapers conduct naturalization campaigns.

SEASONAL RUSH OF OUTBOUND TOURISTS NOW IN FULL SWING

Fast Crossing Of Mauretania Gives Impetus To Ocean Travel

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—Within the next 10 days, the final tourist outbound rush of the summer season will be in full blast. At the moment accommodations on ocean liners, crack railroad trains, de luxe bus routes and even airplane lines are practically booked full.

After a few brief weeks, the tide of travel will turn homeward again, as the tourists and pleasure seekers get back to their more serious occupations. No small part of the tourist travel is composed of teachers and pupils and they must be back early in September in most cases.

The volume of travel this year and that already booked for the next few weeks gives assurance that this will be the greatest travel year this country has ever known, if one excepts the transportation of American troops in war time. Big benefits have accrued to the railroads. Railroads have had passenger traffic pay, which is a novelty in the railroad world. The airplane passenger lines are expanding and are carrying more passengers than at any time previously in this country. The volume of motor travel has been tremendous and the number of steamship passengers has been fully up to expectations.

GIVEN IMPETUS
There is small doubt that trans-Atlantic travel has received a tremendous impetus from the breaking of the steamship crossing record by the Bremen and, the high speed attained by the 22-year-old Mauretania. New vessels have entered American ports in starting numbers this year and scores more are on the ways in process of construction. There is still an excess of ocean tonnage but there is not an excess of modern super-luxurious and speedy vessels. It is on vessels of the latter type that the world's shipyards now are working. The German companies are prepared to continue this competition. The English ship masters are looking to some of the new vessels now building in the Scotch yards. The United States lines have a program involving the building of two new vessels which may contend for the speed pennant of the Atlantic, while the French vessels also will be fast and stress gaiety and activity on board as well as speed to attract patrons.

Marine engineers are studying intensively on problems of boiler and turbine construction and electric drive. The Central Alloy Steel Corporation of Massillon, O., now is making a new type of alloy under Krupp patents specially designed to meet demands for more power and higher boiler pressures. New turbine formulae are being worked out together with new changes in propeller pitch, while the possibilities of the motor ship still comparatively undeveloped.

It is a question whether it pays directly to operate the high speed passenger liners. But they serve a tremendous advertising purpose, attracting from their passengers shipments of freight which go on slower and more economical vessels. In this respect they resemble the crack fast trains of the railroads, such as the twentieth century limited, running over other roads.

BENEFIT FROM INCREASE
While the fast boats will attract those to whom speed is a fetish or an essential and who desire the height of luxury, the cabin boats are also benefitting largely from the increased traffic. There will always be a class of passengers to whom price comfort and service are the main considerations. Freight rates are more favorable than they have been. The round-the-world voyage of the Graf Zeppelin, with many American passengers on board, is adding a distinct filip to the travel situation and is arousing preparations for sharp competition between the lighter-than-air and heavier-than-air machines.

With all the improvements in mechanical transportation, the volume of travel on "shanks mare" is higher than in years, according to outdoor men, scout masters and outfitters. The number of men and women who are taking their vacations afoot is extremely large, as the travelers with pack, sack and blanket roll in the woods and mountains testify.

In Washington "Blackmail" Case

Alleged efforts to "extort" $270,000 from Mrs. C. C. Calhoun and her husband, Captain C. C. Calhoun (above), socially prominent Washingtonians who entertained the Prince of Wales on his last visit to this country, have resulted in the arrest of W. Clark Noble, famed sculptor, his wife and three others in Washington on charges of conspiracy to blackmail. The Calhouns charge that Noble and his alleged conspirators asked for this amount under threats of revealing "one of the grandest scandals in history" if they refused to pay. Noble is shown below.

GAS TAX RECEIPTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Madison—(AP)—Receipts from the state's 2 cents a gallon gasoline tax in June amounted to $799,223.17, as compared with $709,762.58 a year ago in June. July and August have previously brought the greatest revenue from gas taxes and the normal increase this year is expected to bring the total for the present fiscal year, which ends May 31, 1930, above the $7,259,032.91 collected during the past fiscal year.

The state's balance on July 1, according to the monthly report of Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, was $15,878,375.20, as compared with a balance of $16,565,507.54 on Aug. 1. Receipts during July amounted to $5,043,650.74, while disbursements were $4,356,518.40.

A FOOLISH THIEF

Indianapolis—Someone must have told the thief who took the goldfish and carp out of the two fountains of an apartment hotel here that the former was real gold and the latter good to eat. However, the thief was fooled in both cases. The hotel did lose $100, however, for that is what the goldfish were valued at.

HORTONVILLE FAIR GROUP LOOKS FOR RECORD ATTENDANCE

Inquiries Indicate There Will Be Many Fine Exhibits At Annual Event

Hortonville—A general demand for the premium list of the seventh annual fair of the Outagamie-Agricultural society and early inquiries about space for exhibits indicate that the buildings will be packed with exhibits at the opening of fair week, Sept. 3. The concessions, special attractions, games and other entertainments, will attract the largest crowds of county and outside people in the history of the fair. To inform the public of the plans of the officers of the fair in entertainment and educational lines, President Isadore Scholl is distributing circulars and posters.

Five separate acts have been engaged by the officers through the Hagen Booking agency of Milwaukee. These acts will be announced later.

Vinton and Bulmer, Minneapolis, have been engaged to put on two acts a day during the fair. Three of their acts are: Herman and Miranda, Taking in the County Fair; Myrtle Vinton as Sis Hopkins in Gosh Darn Fools Stuff; Vinton and Bulmer in The Lady and the Musician.

Baseball fans will have a chance to see two good teams at the Hortonville fair. The first game between Kimberly-Little Chute and Appleton is set for Sept. 4. The second game, between the South Greenville Grange team and the Shiocton team will be played on Sept. 5.

A hand will be engaged next week and the judges of exhibits will be selected during that week.

Life Expectancy On Decrease After 40

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Figures just made available in an article published in "Science" and the records of the state of Illinois for the last ten years show that the life expectancy of men in the United States after reaching forty years has decreased by one year during the last decade.

The figures are of the greatest significance. We have been saying much about the increased years that have been granted to man by the progress of medical science.

It is definitely proved that whereas the child born in the United States in 1825 could expect to live only to 33 years, the child born in the United States today may expect to live to 58 years.

However, the man who reached 50 years of age in 1825 had an expectancy of 21.2 years and the one who reaches 50 years today has a life expectancy of approximately 21.5 years.

Indeed, the latest figures, as have been mentioned, indicate that the man of 40 may now reasonably expect only 23 years, whereas 10 years ago his expectancy was calculated at 30 years. Obviously the gain that has been made is in the first three decades of life and represents the control of infant mortality and of the acute infectious diseases of childhood.

The diseases most prominent in the causes of death are now heart disease, high blood pressure, diseases of the kidney, diabetes, cancer and pneumonia. Most of these are degenerative diseases. They represent wear and tear on the human body. The tissues that have broken down and die are not to be given new life and rejuvenation. They are crippled cells and the only hope of saving them seems to lie in giving them less to do. Hence the control of the degenerative diseases includes control of the diet primarily, limiting it in amount and in quality so that too great a burden will not be thrown on the organs of assimilation and elimination.

In order not to put too great a burden on the heart and on the blood vessels the individual must get enough rest and limit his exercise to what his tissues can stand. One of the greatest causes of degenerative diseases is constant strain or worry. We live at fever pitch. Everybody is going somewhere and the element of human nature that the German wisely calls "Sitzfleisch" seems to be disappearing entirely.

The philosophers despair of any great increase in life expectancy after middle age in view of the trend of the times. All that they and the physicians can do is to stand by the side of the road and shout "Slow Down." What can they do if a speed mad public refuses to heed the call?

A Word of Caution

As the representative of the oldest and largest manufacturer of electric cleaners—The Hoover Company—we feel that we should give you this word of warning about electric cleaner purchasing.

You cannot expect to get good work out of a poor machine.

But you can easily find out whether or not any cleaner is a good machine, and whether or not it will do good work.

Look first at the construction. No flimsily-built cleaner can have the power to do thorough cleaning, nor the strength to stand up under long use.

Compare it with The Hoover, strong, beautiful, finished, lasting!

Look next at the dirt it removes. Compare this too with The Hoover, that removes, by actual test, more dirt per minute than any other cleaner. This will give you an accurate measure of the cleaning efficiency of any machine on the market today.

We will gladly give you a comparative demonstration of The Hoover or will leave one on trial—any time you say. Simply telephone us.

The Hoover is obtainable for a down payment of only $6.25; balance monthly. Liberal allowance for your old cleaner.

The Telephone One of your Stauchest Friends

It is not in idle jest when we say the telephone is one of your staunchest friends. Think a moment—how many times during the past year has your telephone proved to be just this. On that rainy night when you were tired and didn't want to leave the house you merely called up and told the Smiths you were not coming—they understood. Remember?

Then the day of the big blizzard, you sat comfortably at home and transacted your business and did your shopping by telephone. In torrid days you stayed in the cool comfort of your home, and again let the telephone run your errands.

In case of sudden illness or an emergency, you depend upon the telephone for summons assistance—and reliable friend that it is, it responds to your bidding.
